TOWN'S BOOZE TIMEBOMB

MEN in Harlow are shaving almost a year off their lives through excessive boozing.

Shock figures published this week show life expectancy of the average Harlow male is affected more by heavy drinking than those living elsewhere in eastern England.

Nationally this puts the town among the worst for alcohol-induced premature deaths. Only big cities such as Manchester, Liverpool and Newcastle are shown to be worse.

However, women were shown to fair better than average, reducing their life expectancy by a total of 3½ months.

The statistics, in a report compiled by researchers at a Liverpool university, are among a catalogue of startling alcohol-related figures for Harlow. The research also rates the town:

● third worst out of the region's 48 districts for alcohol-specific deaths among men and ninth worst for women;

● sixth and seventh worst respectively in the region for alcohol-related deaths among men and women;

By BEN WILKINSON, Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

● fourth worst in the region for alcohol-related violent crime and ninth worst for the number of alcohol-related sexual offences. Although the level of "hazardous" drinking, considered to be consumption of more than 22 units of alcohol a week, showed Harlow people to be better than average, the study showed the number engaging in "harmful" drinking levels – more than 50 units a week – made the town the fifth worst district in the region.

The town was also shown to be the seventh worst in the region for binge drinkers – those who regularly consume eight units or more in a single session.

A spokeswoman for West Essex Primary Care Trust said support for local people affected by alcohol problems was a priority.

Hospital winning fight against C-diff

INFECTION rates of the deadly bug Clostridium difficile (C-diff) at Harlow's hospital have been slashed in the past year.

Health chiefs have confirmed the number of monthly cases are consistently under maximum permitted levels, with just 13 cases reported in September this year compared to 21 in 2006.

The progress has been put down to the introduction of strict weekly monitoring of cleaning protocols, using chlorine to clean the wards and liaising with other organisations who have been successful in reducing C-diff numbers.

Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust medical director Dr Sandra

Dimmock said: "We are pleased to have kept the number of cases we have at the hospital under control. This reflects much hard work by our staff on the wards who have been extremely conscientious on issues around cleaning hands with soap and water between patients as well as the constant use of hand gel.

"But we cannot be complacent and will be looking at other wards to further improve our figures in future months."

Chief executive Chris Pocklington said the trust had continued to drive home the clean-hands message to staff visitors and patients.

"There is no doubt that the opening of new and modern facilities at the hospital is playing a key role in the controlling the spread of infection," he said. "I should also praise our house domestic teams who should also be recognised for their role in improving hospital cleanliness."

● PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital has shown a marked improvement in its services, according to the Healthcare Commission.

The hospital's grade for quality of service has risen from 'fair' to 'good' while its rating for use of resources has been upgraded from 'weak' to 'fair'.

A hospital trust spokesman said: "Obviously the hospital is delighted with its marked improvement in the ratings."

Burglars raid infant school

By BEN WILKINSON

Chief Reporter

wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A SCHOOL has been left counting the cost after burglars stole hundreds of pounds worth of educational equipment during a night raid.

Intruders struck at Spinney Infant School, in Cooks Spinney, smashing their way into a classroom using a goalpost taken from the sports field.

They ransacked the classroom making off with a number of computers and video equipment used by pupils in their day-to-day learning.

The raid happened last Wednesday and followed an attempted burglary two nights earlier when a door was partly smashed in.

Headteacher Sue Playford told the Star that replacing the computers and repairing the damage would cost hundreds of pounds - money which would otherwise go towards other educational tools for the children.

"This money will come out of the school budget," she said. "The only people who are affected by this are the young children who we are educating here."

"I find the mentality of someone who steals from a school impossible to understand and I am absolutely disgusted by them."

● ON the same night, vandals smashed their way into The Downs County Primary School, in The Hides. A concrete slab was used to break a window, although it is not believed anything was stolen.

Anyone with information about either break-in should call Harlow police on (01279) 641212.

County to fight postal closures

PROPOSALS to close 31 Essex Post Offices, including two in Epping, are being opposed by Essex County Council.

Under cost-cutting restructuring plans, the Post Office plans to shut about 2,500 unprofitable branches throughout the UK.

It is announcing the closures in phases and the latest, revealed last week, includes Epping's Allnatts Road and Lindsey Street.

Essex County Council leader Lord Hanningfield said the closures could harm local communities, adding: "We are calling for an extension to the consultation period so that all options can be fully explored before these vital lifelines are lost forever."

"We work closely with our partners, including Harlow Council, to develop support services for those who need help," she said. "We have recently appointed a health improvement specialist who will be focusing specifically on tackling substance misuse including alcohol."

Diners shocked by patter of tiny feet

By JIM TANFIELD
tanfieldj@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HYGIENE regulations have been criticised after a restaurant was allowed to stay open despite having a problem with mice.

Diners at Harlow tapas bar Ortega were shocked to see the small rodents scuttling between the tables.

But customers Hayley Mills (26) and Gemma Silvester (26) were further amazed when they reported the problem and were told by staff that environmental health chiefs were already aware.

Mrs Mills, of Altham Grove, Harlow, said: "I can't believe they don't shut down restaurants straight away and then deal with the problem."

"The customer has a right to know even if the mice aren't posing a risk."

The friends were dining out in the Queensgate Centre eatery last Tuesday when they saw half-a-dozen rodents scampering around on the floor.

They immediately informed the management but were taken aback to learn that environmental health officers had given permission for Ortega to continue trading while pest control was undertaken.

"I went up and told a waitress at the bar who said she knew about the problem and said they (the mice) hadn't got into the kitchen and there were traps out and pest control knew," said Mrs Mills. "She told me to go back to the table while she spoke to her supervisor."

"While we were waiting we then saw loads of mice running about. It was disgusting."

Mrs Mills was offered a £12 discount from her bill but declined the offer and refused to pay at all.

A spokesman for the restaurant confirmed it was working with environmental health officers to resolve the issue and said other premises in the shopping centre were also experiencing problems with mice after the rodents were disturbed by nearby building work.

He added that hygiene was taken very seriously and all Ortega restaurants comply with strict health and safety regulations and are inspected regularly.

Harlow Council confirmed it was following normal procedures by keeping the restaurant open and said there was no evidence that mice had affected the safety of food in the kitchen.

RSPCA's big birthday

HARLOW'S branch of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has celebrated its 10th birthday.

Located in The Stow, the branch is staffed by volunteers and a visiting vet.

Centre manager Marion Wellsman said: "We are quite lucky as all of our volunteer team are young and energetic."

"In the 10 years we have treated more than 15,000 animals and have noticed how more and more people deal with small animals such as cats and rabbits as commodities to help them make money."

She added: "Not only the RSPCA, but all animal charities are at crisis point in finding homes for the unwanted ones."

You're the worst run town in Essex

HARLOW has been branded the worst run town in the county by the Conservative leader of Essex County Council.

Lord Hanningfield launched his withering attack on the town's ruling Labour/Liberal Democrat coalition as he sought to deflect criticism of his own authority.

He claimed the town loses out on massive amounts of investment because district councillors and officers refuse to work in partnership with the county.

And he also accused Harlow MP Bill Rammell of spreading lies about the county council, particularly in relation to highways works and The Square.

At a press conference in Old Harlow on Tuesday, Lord Hanningfield said: "Harlow is the most difficult council to work with out of the whole 12."

"Life in Essex is all about partnership; that's how we get resources and how we get things done. If you look elsewhere in Essex it's clear to see how much of a bad deal Harlow residents are getting."

He said County Hall had invested £5m in Harlow's roads but this could have been more with better co-operation from the district.

Criticising the town's attitude as a legacy of its 'Old Labour' past, he said: "It always was a very incestuous operation, with councillors becoming officers and vice-versa. The result was a very insular and inward-looking council and that attitude still prevails."

Lord Hanningfield was joined at the conference by Tracey Chapman, spokeswoman for children and families, who labelled Mr Rammell "irresponsible in the extreme" for opposing the removal of alcohol from The Square. She also dismissed his suggestion that the county council had instigated the impending closure of the venue as a complete lie.

But Mr Rammell responded: "Don't ask me or Lord Hanningfield, ask the young people who are fighting to save The Square where they think the blame lies."

"ECC are the ones who closed the bar making it unviable and they are the ones who gave a nod and wink to [lease owner] Circle Anglia that they had no interest in the site. It's very clear that ECC, through its actions, has put The Square in jeopardy."

A Harlow Council spokesman said it had been consistently praised by Government inspectors for its partnership working, adding: "We are currently involved with a large number of joint working initiatives with Essex County Council including the delivery of customer services, Sure Start, scrutiny initiatives, the Safer Harlow Partnership, emergency planning, Active Harlow, the one-stop shop for young people, online working, recycling promotion, joint operations with Trading Standards and regeneration projects."

Cops probe gas pipe fire

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a house in Harlow yesterday (Wednesday) after a gas pipe caught alight.

Crews were scrambled to Charters Cross shortly before 6am when a fire which started in a recycling bin outside the property spread to the pipe, which ruptured.

Crews dampened down the area around the flames until the gas supply was turned off.

Police are now investigating the cause of the fire.

LOUISE SASSOON

IT'S 11.30am and I'm walking around a narrow residential street of Harlow, probably looking a little shifty as I gaze into the windows of parked cars.

But I am on a mission to find out why, each week, the Star is inundated with police crime reports, each one detailing a list of valuables which have been stolen after being left in vehicles parked around the town.

Barely a week goes by without expensive satellite navigation systems, CD players, wallets, handbags, golf clubs, laptops and even important documents such as passports and insurance forms, totaling hundreds of pounds being snatched from cars.

And with a list like that it's easy to see why crooks look upon cars as a source of rich pickings. These items can be sold on relatively easily and the money used to fund drug habits or other criminal activities.

I assumed those responsible for the thefts just happen to have a good eye for a target, breaking into more expensive-looking cars which may have more than their fair share of gadgets and gimmicks.

But after spending half-an-hour walking around a break-in hotspot with one of Harlow's Police Community Support Officers, it soon became clear that is not the case.

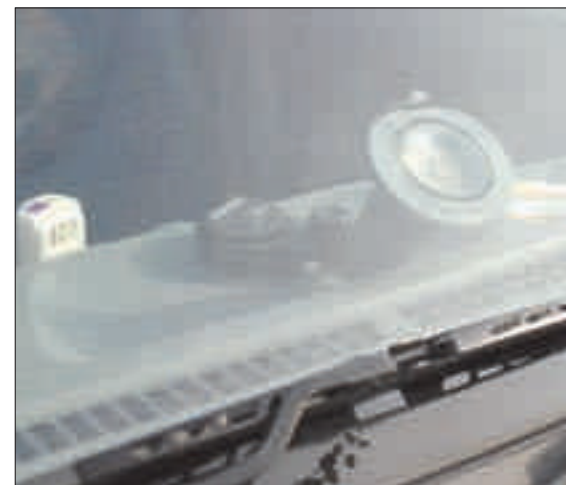

Despite all the warnings bandied about telling people not to risk leaving things on display, I was amazed at what I saw left in cars in full view to all and sundry.

With a photographer in tow, PCSO Anne-Marie Hayden-Case and I witnessed a treasure trove of electronics as well as documents ideal for anybody wanting to steal an identity or two left in cars parked on the Summers estate.

Most weren't even hidden from view and the attempts made by some drivers to be security conscious were, frankly, laughable. In one car the front of a stereo had been removed but left in the centre console.

Although I was shocked by just what was on offer to anyone who cared to throw a brick

Is your car a shop window for thieves?

EASY TARGETS: Left, no attempt has been made to hide a set of golf clubs and a bag in the back of one car; above, leaving the cradle for a satellite navigation system attached to the windscreen may indicate that the rest of the equipment is still in the car through the window of these cars, it came as no surprise to PCSO Hayden-Case.

"You see it all the time," she said. "I think it's because people assume nothing will happen to them."

"They think 'I'll only be a few minutes' but sometimes that's all that is needed for their bag, mobile phone or sat nav to be stolen."

"When cars are parked out on the streets and they have valuables on display I try and find who owns the vehicle so I can warn them of the dangers, but it's hard in a private car park."

"People don't think it will happen to them until it does. It also seems nobody takes notice if a car alarm goes off as much as they used to so it's not enough to just keep your car locked or secure; people need to take things with them."

Of course, car crime is something which plagues all towns, not just Harlow. But with the criminal fraternity now turning towards stealing people's entire identities in order to make money and the nights getting darker providing perfect working conditions for thieves, PCSO Hayden-Case said people need to take note.

"It used to be things like radios which were stolen but now it's sat navs, laptops, golf clubs, that type of thing. Mobile phones and iPods are also targets and so are letters and documents with names and addresses on," she said.

"People just need to make sure they take a bag and they take everything with them when they get out of their cars. It's not good enough leaving sat nav cradles suckered to the window either because thieves see them and break-in in the hope the rest of it is in the glove compartment."

So the message is clear. Leave your valuables in your car and sooner or later you'll become another crime statistic reported in the pages of the Star. That is, until we all wise up to the fact that we have to make an effort ourselves to ensure the adage 'crime doesn't pay' stays true.

Stuart dad to sue pool probe cops?

By JIM TANFIELD
tanfieldj@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE father of swimming pool victim Stuart Lubbock is considering suing the police for negligence.

Terry Lubbock has consistently claimed the Essex force failed to carry out a thorough investigation following the death of his son Stuart during a party at the home of TV entertainer Michael Barrymore more than six years ago.

This week Mr Lubbock of Great Brays, told the Star: "I can confirm I have found a law firm in London, one that I can only describe as top drawer, and I am holding a meeting with them to discuss taking the police to court.

"It's going to be on a charge of negligence and we are attempting to get them into court on that claim. They are looking at possible negligence from the top down."

He added: "It's looking better and better and we are determined to let the people of Harlow know that it's not all over. We may have been a little quiet but it's certainly not over."

Mr Lubbock believes the police made mistakes and missed vital evidence in initial investigations after Stuart's death following a party at Mr Barrymore's Roydon home.

Father-of-two Stuart (32) was pulled unconscious from the pool and was certified dead at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

An inquest into his death confirmed he had severe anal injuries and traces of cocaine, ecstasy and alcohol were found in his body. The coroner recorded an open verdict.

A spokesman for Essex Police declined to comment, saying only that the case was still being investigated by the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

Meanwhile, Mr Lubbock is also hoping his claim for £10,000 from The Criminal Injuries Compensation Authority could succeed, even though it is still in its early stages. He said if the award was granted, he would split it with his ex-wife.

He stressed the potential compensation was in no way linked to any possible court case against Essex Police.

Booze ban on shops caught in sales sting

TWO shops have been banned from selling alcohol and a third had its licence revoked for a month after being caught supplying booze to youngsters.

Harlow Council's licensing committee took the action after the shops were targeted by Essex Police and Trading Standards officers.

Test purchases were carried out after police received tip-offs that shops had been breaking the law by selling alcohol to minors.

The operation was funded by the Government's Tackling Underage Sales of Alcohol Campaign.

The committee made its decision in the same week that figures showed undercover operations had significantly reduced alcohol sales to under-18s.

Council licensing manager Peter Bourn said: "The committee does not take decisions to withdraw licences lightly. We know that alcohol sales can be a significant part of a retailer's business but at the same time the retailers concerned are given fair warning that what they have been doing is wrong."

"It is only after they persist that we get to the stage of having to consider the withdrawal of the licence."

Bush Fair Food Centre and SK News in Sumners have had their licences permanently revoked while Wills Off-licence at Staple Tye has been suspended from selling alcohol for four weeks.

All three now have the opportunity to appeal against the decision.

Golf range blaze treated as arson

A FIRE which gutted a golf range on the outskirts of Harlow is being treated as arson.

The blaze, which started in the early hours Friday and quickly spread through wooden driving range sheds in Gilston.

Flames came dangerously close to igniting gas cylinders stored at the hut. Fire crews tackled the flames for an hour-and-a-half before extinguishing the blaze.

Firefighter Terry Povey said: "This fire could be seen for some distance but crews did an excellent job fighting it."

"It is thanks to their professionalism and hard work that the fire was extinguished as safely and quickly as it was."

Ram-raid gang strike at cinema

POLICE are hunting members of a ram-raid gang who stole the contents of a cash machine in the foyer at Harlow's Cineworld cinema.

The three masked men smashed through the entrance of the cinema in a stolen Mitsubishi Pajero 4x4 shortly after 9pm last Wednesday.

They then tied a rope around the cash machine and reversed the vehicle, which had been stolen from The Dashes.

They took the cash box from the wrecked machine and made their escape in a dark-coloured Audi estate car, abandoning the 4x4 at the scene.

The getaway vehicle, which had been stolen from an address in Royston, was seen speeding off in the direction of Roydon, where it was abandoned.

The cinema was open at the time and, although no-one was injured, shocked staff and filmgoers were left shaken.

Police, who were unable to confirm the amount of money stolen, have requested that anyone with information should contact them on (01279) 625516.

WE SAY

WHETHER two looming by-elections are a factor is up for debate, but county council leader Lord Hanningfield's rant against Harlow Council is certainly unprecedented in its ferocity. He believes, somehow, that it is a throwback to the insular, incestuous days of supreme Labour control. Outsiders may find it difficult to care about this inter-council hissy fit. All most people want is to see the services for which they pay provided properly - and, truth be told, both county and district councils often fall short.

Rather more curious, though, is the stinging attack on MP Bill Rammell for his efforts to save The Square.

The Star is not shy of criticising Mr Rammell when it's due, but this is surely one area where he really has stood up for local needs and services.

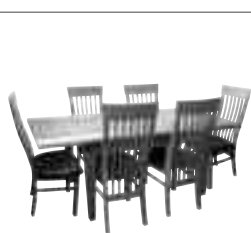

People should consider his efforts far more genuine than the glib insults of remote county councillors with no understanding of the venue's value.

A&amp;E trauma

SIR, It seems clear to me after a recent visit to our local hospital that all is not well.

My eight-year-old son experienced breathing difficulties and collapsed when exercising. Rather than call an ambulance we immediately drove to the walk-in centre and were told to go straight to casualty as this was not something they could treat.

We arrived, parked and then had to find money for the pay-and-display as I had no change. We entered A&E around 6.30pm and after providing a few details were ushered to the children's area with everyone from babies to older children with broken limbs and other problems plus parents, all in a very small space. It felt like we were herded together to keep us away from the relatively empty main waiting area.

We then had to wait for nearly four hours to be seen by a doctor during which my son continued to experience breathing difficulties. Eventually he was seen and assessed; at least they managed to beat the waiting time guideline by just a few minutes.

I am sure this is not what the guideline and target was meant to achieve. The goal should be to treat the sick, not meet a target.

My son was then examined by a doctor and told to go home. No medication, no advice and he still had breathing difficulties. The next day, as concerned parents and as he was still unwell, we visited our local doctor and were seen in the morning, provided advice and medication. In fact it was quite the opposite to our experience the previous night.

Thank goodness for the local GP who had the time and experience and cared for his patients. That is what the NHS should be about. No thanks to a hospital where patients seem to come last and be an inconvenience to the system. Where has all the money we are told has been invested gone?

At least my son has now fully recovered but no thanks to our local hospital.

Stephen Dodd
Bellfield Gardens, Harlow

Funds wasted

SIR, May I, as one of those who served on the original steering committee set up to oversee the founding of the walk-in centre, comment on Aidan Thomas's letter (Star, October 11)?

When walk-in centres were established it was specified they would be not be attached to hospitals and would be nurse-led. The very idea was for them to distract people from A&E departments. I am not aware the Government has changed this policy but if they have it has been kept very quiet.

Already we have seen that blood tests are no longer carried out at the walk-in centre and that the prescribed time of opening at 7am on weekdays has been changed to 9am.

Very recently, people phoning for an out-of-hour doctor service during Friday evening/early hours of Saturday morning have been asked, if possible, to attend the walk-in centre at 9am on the Saturday when a doctor would be in attendance. They turned up, only to find the centre displaying a notice on the door saying it would not be opening until

It should be

11am. No-one had the courtesy to notify the out-of-hour doctors of the change in the opening hour. This is inexcusable.

The fact Mr Thomas is saying the future of the centre is the subject for consultation is farcical.

The money that has very recently been spent on the walk-in centre extension and modernisation is typical of how vital funds are being wasted, if indeed the centre is being moved.

Road rage

SIR, As a regular commuter on the M11, I very much welcome Robert Halfon's campaign for an additional junction between Bishop's Stortford and Harlow.

I am sick and tired of being stuck trying to negotiate the Hastingwood roundabout. It is dangerous, with many drivers making risky and illegal manoeuvres out of desperation to join the queue that's going nowhere fast.

Harlow is gridlocked and desperately needs an A414 extension from Eastwick to the M11. The 800 homes being built on the Gateway development will only add to the congestion in and around Harlow Town station.

The result is gridlock at both ends of Harlow every rush hour, every day.

Guy Mitchinson
Joyners Field, Harlow

Out of town

SIR, Am I the only person who's thoroughly fed up of seeing Robert Halfon's face on the front page of the Star?

Last week it was his 'Fed Up with Harlow Traffic' blitz in which he said that, like most Harlow residents, he spends hours queuing in traffic in Harlow. Like his Tory predecessor

Jerry Hayes, Mr Halfon is not a Harlow resident. He lives in Roydon. Far be it for the Tory party to ever field a candidate who actually lives in the town. I know votes cast in Roydon are included in the Harlow poll but he is still technically not a Harlow resident.

Get your facts right, Robert.

Bob Johnson
Wissants, Harlow

Party donors

SIR, I'm still not clear, given his complaints in last week's edition, whether Robert Halfon is actually suggesting that if elected as our MP he would refuse public money - for staff, for office equipment and for postage - and do the job for love, given that he seems to resent the fact that MPs have such funding to do their job.

Ordinarily I'd say that was a joke but then I got to wondering how he funds his campaign at the moment with his regular party political advertisements in the local press.

You can look up the donations of all the local political parties on the Electoral Commission website and it is quite a revelation.

In the past few years Harlow Conservative Party has received £143,229 in declarable donations. There's money from Michael Ashcroft's Bearwood Corporate Services and substantial donations from investment companies like Tamares Real Estate Investments, Oceana Investment Corp and Christofferson, Robb and Company. I've no idea what these companies do but they don't seem to have much to do with Harlow.

The Companies House website and Google doesn't reveal much but I did find out, for example, that Bearwood is registered in the British Virgin Islands and Tamares has offices in London, New York, Tel Aviv and is apparently the largest land owner in Las Vegas.

The other parties have nowhere near the level of donations the Tories enjoy. The Liberal Democrats have done surprisingly well with £77,186 but much of this is from a bequest. Labour received only £14,375, almost all of it from the trade unions which do at least have local branch links.

What I still can't figure out is why these Tory corporate donors are so very interested in Harlow. I have a real fear my vote is in danger of being bought and Mr Halfon's not remotely interested in doing the job for love.

better by bus

SIR, I am employed by one of Harlow's bus companies and I agree with the comments by Nigel Clark about congestion in the town (Letters, October 11).

As a bus driver it is increasingly hard to keep to the times set in the timetables because of this traffic problem.

It's true there are bus lanes for us to use but the one on Second Avenue from the clock tower to the town centre is farcical as we have to rejoin the flow of the traffic at the Tilwicks Road and Tripton Road roundabouts. This is inconvenient to other road users and our passengers.

It is the same with the bus lane on Fifth Avenue heading towards the train station.

It also appears that a bus lane is being planned along First Avenue between the town centre and Old Harlow. Looking at the layout it seems the buses will still have to rejoin the flow of traffic at several points along the road which will be hard as many road users refuse to let a bus pull out as maybe they believe it will slow them down.

With the planning of more homes in and around Harlow, surely a better bus lane infrastructure would be of great benefit and ease to the public and help solve the problem of congestion within the town.

Many passengers who use the buses to get into and out of Harlow during the rush hours complain that they are late for a connecting bus service because of the congestion.

There is a lot of talk about people walking or cycling to work but who wants to do this in the winter or if the weather is bad? There are a lot of children who use the bus services to get to and from school and as a parent I am sure I am not alone when I say that I would rather my children take the bus instead of getting cold and wet before starting the school day.

I hope the Government and Harlow Council can work together to solve this congestion within our town.

Stop the spin and let's debate housing plans

SIR, In his September newsletter, Bill Rammell once again tries to smear our campaign with his spin.

When describing plans for housing he states: "I don't want another public meeting that is hijacked by the East Herts based anti-homes campaign known as STOP Harlow North."

Our membership is very broad, not just East Herts. We are pleased with the ever increasing number of Harlow residents who have signed up for our newsletter and who responded to the last public consultation on the East of England Plan. We welcome this support.

Our campaign is not anti homes. We published our development proposals for the land north of Harlow last year under the title Gilston Great Park. We also support Harlow's current local plan. Both specifically provide homes for local people but neither advocates building 10,000-25,000 houses as Mr Rammell suggests Harlow needs.

Bearing in mind our committee members were barred from attending Harlow Council's public meeting on the East of England Plan earlier this year and the fact that Mr Rammell has never held a public debate with us or shared a platform with us, it is difficult to understand which meetings we are meant to have hijacked.

Mr Rammell's plans affect East Herts and Harlow residents. We would welcome the opportunity to debate this issue in public with him – if he has the bottle.

Nigel Clark, secretary STOP Harlow North High Street, Hunsdon

Election fright

SIR, So Harlow MP Bill Rammell didn't want an autumn election because of the onset of cold weather and darker nights (Star, October 11).

Really Bill? Nothing to do with having the third smallest majority in the country then. Please stop treating your constituents as if they were idiots.

David Pugh

Save the tubes

SIR, The planned demolition of Harlow's

swimming pool threatens the future of one of the town's most imaginative art commissions. Generations of art lovers have come to see the aqua tubes – so nicknamed I understand because for a brief experimental period after installation they incorporated a water feature – as an essential part of their cultural landscape.

Perhaps they could be re-erected on a new site? Removed to the Water Gardens, they would at least partly obscure that hideous car park.

Buses to promote children's hospice

ON THE BUSES: Headmaster Dean Moran and pupils Olivia Burn (5), Louis Jennings (6), Jake Wiley (6) and Natalie Harrison with one of the buses displaying a poster (S)

THE wheels are turning on an advertising campaign to raise funds for a hospice which cares for terminally ill children in west Essex.

Posters will be displayed on the backs of buses, raising the profile of the Little Havens Children's Hospice and encouraging people to donate money.

The campaign was launched with the help of pupils from William Martin Infant School, in Tawneys Road, Harlow.

The school has been a long-time supporter of the hospice, donating the proceeds of its annual Christmas collection and school plays to it every year since 2001, so it was the obvious choice of location to show off one of the newly decorated vehicles.

Hospice spokeswoman Amy Dearing said: "Little Havens provides in-house and community respite breaks and end-of-life care for life-limited youngsters not expected to reach adulthood. In fact three per cent of referrals come from Harlow and the surrounding area.

"Little Havens will cost £2.1m this year to continue its unique and vital service, with 81 per cent coming from kind donations, gifts in wills and fundraising events.

"It is hoped these buses, driving along popular routes through Harlow, will be seen by as many people as possible."

Dean Moran, headmaster at William Martin Infants, said he was delighted to help the hospice launch its publicity drive.

"We encourage our pupils to think about children who may be less fortunate than us, whether through serious illness or life-threatening conditions," he said.

"The children enjoy the concept that their hard work, which goes into our performances, is benefiting children at Little Havens.

"We were very proud to be approached by Little Havens to promote the bus launch and are looking forward to fundraising for them once more at this year's Christmas festivities."

● Anyone wishing to donate or help with fundraising can contact the hospice (01702) 220350 or find out more about its work at www.littlehavens.org.uk

Fashion show charity boost

A FASHION show organised by the designer who created much of the wardrobe for the Spice Girls raised a stylish £1,200.

The show, which was held at Blakes Golf Club in North Weald, saw Dee Izmail Attila auction off one of her designs in aid of the Kawasaki Fund, a charity researching a cure for mucocutaneous lymph node syndrome.

The event, which was sponsored by Kara Designs of Enfield and hairdressers Toni & Guy, also gave the designer the opportunity to show off her latest collection.

Guides' party

FORMER Girl Guides or Brownies from the 1st Tye Green group are invited to a reunion party which is being held to celebrate its 50th anniversary.

The party takes place on November 10. For more details, call Sharon Head on (01279) 864892 or Doreen Murrell on (01279) 431233.

CAB quiz night

EGGHEADS can flex their grey matter and help raise funds for Harlow Citizens Advice Bureau at a quiz night tomorrow (Friday).

The quiz is being held at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre in Old Harlow starting at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £7.50 including a meal. Call (01279) 429924 for details.

Healthy advice

REIKI, the Alexander Technique, homeopathy and yoga are among the activities to be showcased at a Healthy Living Day in Epping Library on Saturday.

There will also be information on local sporting opportunities, diet tips and other inspiring ideas. The event runs from 10am-2pm.

Joining forces

THE Harlow branch of mental health charity Mind has joined forces with nine others across Essex.

The new partnership, which will see the branches work more closely in providing services and campaigning, was launched with an event last week at Chelmsford Football Club.

Jacqueline Cadogan, general manager of Harlow Mind, said: "We're delighted to be a partner and will work hard to support the aims and objectives of this partnership, with a view towards improving mental health services and reducing discrimination and stigma for those who are experiencing mental health problems across Essex."

Blood sessions

BLOOD donor sessions will be held at Epping Hall, in St John's Road, tomorrow (Friday) from 2-4pm and 5-7.45pm, and at the Latton Bush Centre, in Southern Way, Harlow, on Tuesday during the same times.

Lawyers raise £3,000 from cross-county hike

THREE solicitors put on their hiking boots and trekked the 81-mile Essex Way to raise money for a group which supports patients who have suffered as a result of medical negligence.

James Sherwin, Robert Barker and David Kerry – who all work at Attwater and Leill in West Gate, Harlow – started the walk in Epping, passing through Great Waltham, Boxted and Manningtree on the way to their destination in Harwich.

The three-day adventure raised

£3,000 for Action Against Medical Accidents.

James, Robert and David are familiar with the charity's work because they all work in the field of clinical negligence.

Mr Barker said the walk was an enjoyable way to support a good cause.

"It was the perfect opportunity to raise funds whilst also drawing attention to a walk which passes through some of the most delightful parts of the Essex countryside," he said.

Harlow Council
Community Building
Expression of Interest

Harlow Council is seeking expressions of interest from either a community group or a local sports club who are looking for a base for their activities.

The successful group/club must be willing to work with a project team to develop a vibrant, active community centre, for the benefit of all local residents, and in return will be offered a sub lease on the building.

The project team has secured significant funding to redevelop the building and the successful group/club will be given the opportunity to have input into the refurbishment from the outset.

The Council is seeking innovative ideas for the continued use of the building that reduces the need for ongoing financial support by the Council.

An information pack will be sent to groups or clubs responding to this advertisement, but for general enquiries, please ring Jennifer Winwright on 01279 446514 or Patrick Arnold on 01279 446634.

Man smashed PAH windows with his head

A MAN who rampaged through Princess Alexandra Hospital causing hundreds of pounds of damage by headbutting windows has been placed on probation. Chelmsford Crown Court heard that Mark Potts (25), of no fixed address, caused £500 of damage in the hospital's mental health unit on July 30.

Potts had been in the unit's day room when he headbutted two windows, causing them to shatter. A staff nurse tried to calm him down but Potts shouted at her and went on to smash another two windows.

Potts admitted damaging property when he appeared in court on Thursday.

Richard Burrington, representing Potts, said in mitigation his client was a troubled young man who had a problem controlling his temper.

Potts was made the subject of a community order and put on probation for 18 months. He was also ordered to attend an anger management course.

Flytippers fined

A CRACKDOWN on flytipping in Harlow has resulted in more than 40 people being fined during the last six months.

The culprits have been served with £50 penalty notices by Harlow Council after being caught on CCTV cameras at dumping hotspots or being shopped by witnesses.

Anyone wanting to report incidents of flytipping should call 0845 6052222.

Bear with a passion for books

A GIANT bear dropped in at Harlow Library to mark National Children's Book Week.

The Bookstart Bear visited the town centre facility during a whistle-stop tour of the county to encourage more young people to read. Iris Pummell, cabinet member for community services at Essex County Council, said: "This is a tremendous opportunity to engage with our very youngest residents and put the building blocks in place for what will hopefully develop into a life-long passion for reading."

HARLOW'S new police chief has vowed to have more officers outside schools and key areas of the town under his plans to create a safer community.

The pledge came as Chief Inspector Michael Martin settled into his role as the town's divisional commander.

Father-of-two Mr Martin (39), who has previously served with Devon and Cornwall Police and the Met, said he is now ready for a new challenge in Essex.

And he has his eyes set on combating anti-social behaviour and other problems in the town, starting with increasing the visibility of officers.

"I am a dad and I have kids and I want them to be able to go out and be safe when they play and what I expect for my children I expect for everybody else's," said Mr Martin, who is currently looking to set down roots in the town.

"My biggest plan is to make sure we reflect the needs of the community in our policing and that involves having visible policing outside schools and key community areas where people would expect to see officers."

He said the town's police force was performing well and that he was impressed with the partnership it had forged with other crime-fighting agencies.

He added that it was his intention to build on the good work of his predecessor Paul Eveleigh in the months to come.

Mr Martin has 20 years of policing under his belt which has seen him involved in numerous operations.

YOU may have read last week's Star report on the criticism levelled at Essex County Council's highways chiefs who approved the resurfacing of Fernhill Lane in Harlow - a road that leads to nowhere.

Many readers think the money would have been better spent repairing the potholes which litter the roundabout at the junction of the A414 and Southern Way. Motorists who are forced to drive over these craters not only risk damaging their cars but could also end up having a nasty accident.

If you know of a pothole worthy of inclusion in Pothole Patrol, call (01279) 400577 or email details to sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Meet Abbotsweld's class of '67

THIS happy lot are the fourth year class of Abbotsweld Junior School in 1967. The picture was sent us by Longbanks resident Susan Johnson, who is among them.

"The teacher's name was Mrs Jones, as far as I can remember," she told Nostalgia. "I know some of the people in the photo still live locally, so I'm sure they – or their children – will have great fun trying to spot themselves!"

Sunvic's first in is last out

By
BEN WILKINSON

IT'S back to early Harlow company Sunvic Controls for the third time, thanks to the memories of 95-year-old Ron Lloyd.

Originally employed at Sunvic's premises in London's Covent Garden, he was responsible for bringing the firm to the new town.

The first man in and the last out of the Harlow site, he worked alongside our previous correspondents the Munro family and John Sapsford.

"In October 1950 I was told by the managing director, Mr Ryland Davis, that he was going to the USA to visit laboratories concerned with nuclear research and at the same time to negotiate a licence agreement with two American companies to manufacture industrial control equipment. If he was successful, then on his return there would be a need for a new factory," said Mr Lloyd, of Sawbridgeworth. "He needed someone to assist him to carry out the expansion and asked if I was interested – yes, I was! The USA visit was a success and by early 1951 I was seeking a factory.

"Harlow was a potential location, so a visit was arranged and I was taken down a muddy Netteswell Lane, equipped with Wellington boots, and conducted to the Eastern Industrial Estate. Building work was in progress and Standard Factory

No.1 was nearly complete."

Mr Lloyd was impressed and set about applying for Government support to occupy the unit, a requirement at the time. Once approved, the plan was to move Sunvic to Harlow by September, a tight schedule given that all the plant, material and personnel would have to be transported and Edinburgh Way hadn't even been built yet!

"Everyone was enthusiastic and a pioneering spirit was evident," he said. "The company even commissioned the writing of a booklet entitled Moving To Harlow by Roy Lewis, which dealt with the attitudes before and after the move."

Once in Harlow, Sunvic and other newly arrived firms established the Harlow and District Employers Group and Mr Lloyd became founding secretary and, later, chairman. He also helped found the Harlow Industrial Health Service and served as its chairman. But this wasn't all ...

"It was recognised there was a need for social development and Harlow Development Corporation made Moot House in The Stow available as a community centre," said Mr Lloyd. "I was persuaded to become its vice-chairman and spent many late nights in the chair of its committee. When the Queen and Prince Philip visited Harlow, I met the Duke in Moot House to explain the function of the Community Association.

"I also attended the official opening of Princess Alexandra Hospital and The Playhouse and was a governor at Harlow College."

Meanwhile, Sunvic continued to expand, with the company supplying instrumentation for Britain's first nuclear power station and components for the air-to-air missile programme, among much else. Domestic appliances, including the Simmerstat mentioned by Mr Sapsford, also continued to be produced at Sunvic's factory in Scotland.

But as well as the boom times, Mr Lloyd vividly remembers Sunvic's downfall: "Parent company Associated Electrical Industries decided the constituent companies forming it should be formed into divisions covering similar products. Sunvic Controls became part of AEI Instrumentation Division and so it remained until 1968 when GEC made a successful bid for AEI.

"The facilities at Harlow were dispersed into sites in Cumbria, Leicester, Kent and Slough and the site vacated. I was the last AEI person there, and was leaving after spending 20 years helping to build up the company – a very sad day."

Raising of the Rose

THIS year marks the 25th anniversary of the raising of Henry VIII's favourite war ship the Mary Rose.

Back in the 16th century this Tudor vessel, pictured left, took two years to build and was the first to be able to fire cannons from its broadside deck holes. The wooden-framed ship sailed many missions during the 40 or so years it was in service, but it sank protecting British shorelines during a battle with a French fleet in 1545.

It was first thought a cannon blast sank the huge vessel which had on board 200 sailors, 185 soldiers and 30 gunners.

However, some experts now think the true reason for it sinking was poor seamanship.

The remains of the vessel lay at the bottom of the sea until 1982 when millions of people watched on television as it was raised from the seabed in The Solent – the stretch of water which separates the Isle of Wight from mainland Britain.

The Mary Rose is continuing to be preserved as part of one of the largest maritime archaeological projects to have ever been undertaken. The ship and many of its artefacts – some perfectly intact – are on show to the public in Portsmouth.

Work is still being done to protect what remains of the ship from deterioration and decay .

No voter apathy for school ballot

STEWARDS: Although voting apathy might affect Harlow and the rest of the country election time, it's something the Parnall Road school's pupils can't be accused of. During the recent school elections for a head boy, head girl and their deputies, 67 per cent of pupils turned out to have their say.

Ballot boxes and booths were borrowed from Harlow Council and Year 10 pupils organised and supervised the day.

The head girl is now Zara Boittier and Steven Lawrence is head boy. Their deputies are Kirstie Brough and Nathan Wilkinson.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood said: "They are going to be sensational and have been on the school council for years. "They are excellent choices as they are upstanding citizens."

A wonderful resource

ROYDON PRIMARY: A classy new addition to the school was warmly welcomed by a special guest.

The school's new building, which cost £700,000, was officially opened by MP Bill Rammell, who is also minister for lifelong learning.

Mr Rammell cut the ribbon to open the new facility, which includes two classrooms, a resource area and staff room.

"The new classrooms are a wonderful addition to the school that will benefit many local pupils in the years to come," he said.

Toddlers' fun agenda

SPINNEY PRE-SCHOOL: Tots and toddlers have new faces and a bright future at the pre-school based in the SPINNEY INFANT school.

New management promise a fun-filled time for all youngsters attending.

Managers and business partners Guilia Pollard and Rachel Clarke (both 39) have three children each, are both registered childminders and have enlisted a fully qualified team of staff.

They have also lowered the age of children for the daily two-and-a-half hour session to 20 months.

Taste of what the future holds at Burnt Mill

BURNT MILL: The First Avenue school threw open the doors to welcome prospective pupils and their parents.

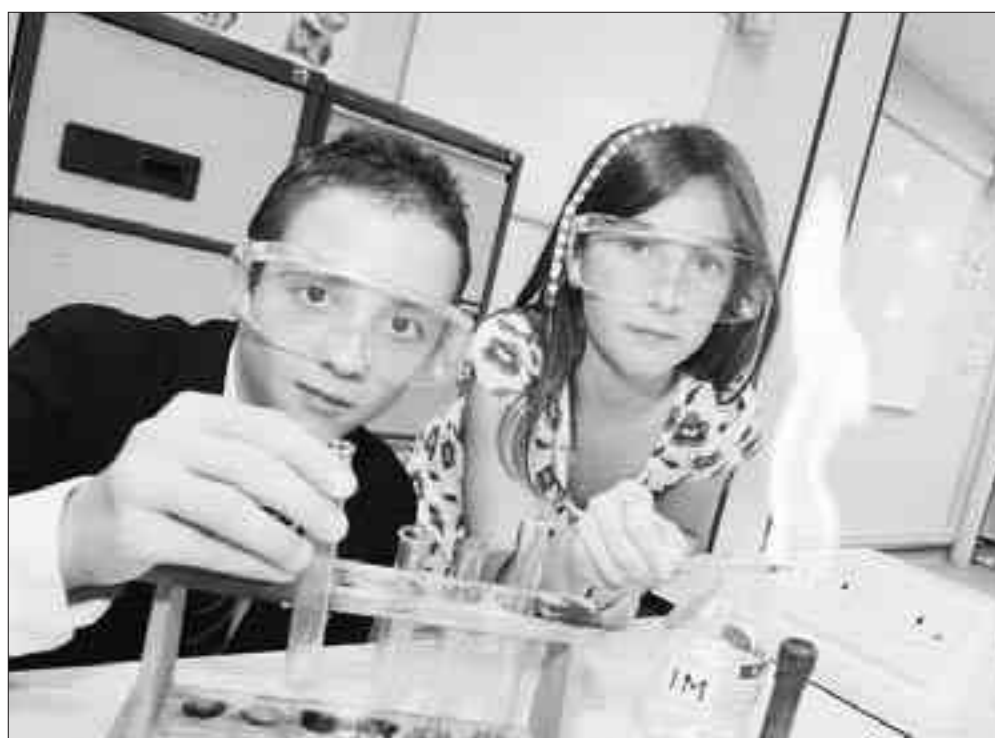

This year's open day, held both during the day and in the evening, saw many activities going on in each curriculum area, from playing in a samba band to sampling French and Spanish cuisine or making a picture frame.

Guests also had the chance to visit the newly refurbished technology suite and the pristine new food technology and textiles rooms.

Headteacher Stephen Chamberlain said: "We were delighted to welcome so many parents and children to Burnt Mill and to have the opportunity to show how proud we are of our students, our school and the community we serve."

Birthday show

CHURCH LANGLEY PRIMARY: The stage was set for the school to celebrate its first decade of life with a spectacular show at The Playhouse.

Up to 150 children performed two shows for packed audiences, offering singing, dancing and readings in a plot loosely based on the history of the school.

Scandinavian favourites Abba got a look-in with the children's version of Thank You For The Music and Eurythmics' number one There Must Be An Angel also featured.

Epping Breast Cancer Unit

After a great success this year we are now taking bookings for 2008 in the following events.

There is only limited space on each of the challenges.

Ben Nevis Challenge (May 2008)

This is a fantastic weekend challenge, there is no climbing experience needed but a good fitness level is required.

Snowdon Challenge (June 2008)

This is a fantastic weekend challenge, there is no climbing experience needed but a fair fitness level is required.

Mount Kilimanjaro Africa (Aug 2008)

This trip is an amazing, life changing experience, it is a 10 day challenge in Africa, it is a tough trek, and you need to be of good fitness, but no climbing experience is needed.

Mount Everest Base Camp and beyond (Sept 2008)

This is a 14 day challenge and again you will need to be of very good fitness for this one, but it is a once in a life time experience, one not to be missed.

All of the above adventures require a minimum sponsorship but all expenses are covered through the charity.

100% of the profit raised goes to the Epping Breast Cancer Unit.

If you are interested in any of the above challenges and want more information please contact 01279 863155.

Man ran at his ex with 8-inch knife

A MAN who kneed his former girlfriend in the face and also ran towards her wielding an eight-inch knife has been jailed.

But Daniel Richardson (24), of Barn Mead, Harlow, was told he could be released from prison "fairly soon" after he was sentenced to 22 weeks for common assault, damaging property, obstructing a police officer and breaching a conditional discharge.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard that Richardson had already spent 22 weeks in jail on remand. "It may well be that the time you have already spent in prison has brought you to your senses," said Judge Rodger Hayward-Smith.

Carolyn Gardiner, prosecuting, said Richardson had been living with Justine Bonwick but following an argument on September 29 last year she had asked him to leave.

The following day she was packing his belongings when another argument started. Richardson kneed her in the face and she fell to the floor. He then pulled her back up by her hair.

Miss Gardiner said that on July 29 this year Richardson broke into Miss Bonwick's home, entered her bedroom, and proceeded to vandalise the wall. He then took a knife from the kitchen and ran at her with it but did not make contact.

Police arrived and Richardson tried to resist arrest by wrapping his legs around one constable. He later told police he had gone to the house to visit his son who he had not seen for three months.

Victoria Burgess, in mitigation, said that while it was a frightening incident for Miss Bonwick, no physical injury was caused and the criminal damage was minimal.

She said Richardson, who had denied the charge of common assault, was remorseful.

Time flies for air cadet corps

CADETS past and present gathered on Sunday to mark the 50th anniversary of 2317 (Harlow) Squadron Air Training Corps.

The unit, based in The Fairway at Bush Fair, was founded in October 1957. It celebrated the milestone with a special parade and reunion for those who have been involved in the past.

Around 30 former cadets and 12 veterans from the town's Royal Air Forces Association branch joined current squadron members for the event, which also saw new joint presidents Flight Lieutenant Tom Brackenborough and his son Wing Commander Keith Brackenborough formally appointed.

After the parade, a series of displays were set up showing off the various activities enjoyed by modern-day air cadets, with demonstrations of camp craft, first aid, aero-modelling, Duke of Edinburgh's Award work, and much else.

There was also a display of old squadron photographs and artefacts from the past half-century.

Flight Lieutenant Simon Pankhurst, who helped organise the celebrations, said: "It was an excellent day and a really good opportunity to remember the successes of the past and catch up with some old familiar faces.

"Our squadron has gone from strength to strength over the past 50 years. We're in the great position of being able to look back on our past proudly but also look forward to a really positive future."

'Supernanny' handed task of tackling bad behaviour

A 'SUPERNANNY' has been appointed in Harlow as part of a pilot project to rid the town of anti-social behaviour.

Christopher Dawkins has been given the task of delivering programmes to improve local parenting and will support colleagues who are working with troublesome families.

He has been employed by Harlow Council as a senior parenting practitioner using funds awarded to the authority when it was given Respect Area status.

If successful the project could be rolled out in other parts of the country.

Harlow's community safety manager Paul Anderson said: "This project is about improving parenting provision, tackling anti-social behaviour and helping to build respect in communities."

"Childrens' good behaviour should start at home so we then have a chance of seeing it continue when they are at school and playing on the streets."

Cops' crackdown on Halloween yobbery

PRANKSTERS are being warned not to walk the wrong side of the thin blue line by causing misery this Halloween.

Police issued the warning amid fears trick-or-treat festivities could see a flurry of reports from householders who have had eggs or flour thrown at their homes or cars.

Chief Inspector Mike Martin, of Harlow police, said: "We want people to have fun but not to the annoyance of others.

"We want people, particularly young children, to be safe, not to be a casualty of the celebrations and we will take a hard line on those who show no respect and break the law."

Any anti-social behaviour can be reported on the 0845 605 222 action line.

Vets unveil an online animal health service

IF your cat is under the weather or your have a poorly pooch, then a Harlow veterinary surgery may have the answer.

Companion Care, located in Pets At Home, St James' Retail Park, Edinburgh Way, has launched a free, one-stop online animal healthcare website.

The small animal specialist is offering the service to allow those worried about the health of their pet to get instant answers.

Some key issues to be found on the website at www.companioncare.co.uk/harlow include tips on preventative measures to make sure your pet is as healthy as possible in the first place.

It also includes full, clearly written explanations of the most common conditions affecting pets for those who might be worried about ailments and there is also guidance on when to call out a vet.

Harlow Companion Care partner Aubrey Kumm said: "The fact there are more and more vet and pet programmes on television today is just one indication that pets are increasingly regarded as individual members of the family in their own right and owners worry about the health of their pets, just like parents do about their children's health.

"Our website gives pet owners the ability to access – day or night – the latest veterinary low-down on pet health issues and conditions, as well as essential information on Harlow surgery such as opening hours, offers and events."

To celebrate the launch, owners subscribing to a newsletter before November 1 via the website will have the chance to win 20 free bags of Hill's Science Plan Pet Food.

New business rates 'will damage traders'

First UK branch opens Easy

A NEW name in furniture retail is looking to take its customers into the comfort zone after opening its flagship store in Harlow.

EasyLiving, in 14,000 sq ft premises at Queensgate Retail Park, off Edinburgh Way, stocks a wide range of solid wood dining, cabinet and bedroom furniture, as well as leather and bespoke sofas and chairs.

Its unique Made To Order range is produced at the firm's factory in Wales by a team which hand-builds each piece to the customer's exact specification, with a choice of over 1,000 fabrics.

The store's official opening on Thursday saw first customer Frances Chalk receive a free bottle of champagne, while others took advantage of a 60 per cent discount on selected items.

Store manager Sue Jenkins said: "I am very excited to be managing the first EasyLiving store here in the UK. We are operating in a fiercely competitive market but EasyLiving has something different to offer, with a combination of competitive prices and really well-made furniture that is built to last."

Trio's triathalon effort for charity

THE manager of a DIY superstore in Harlow swapped his work suit for a tracksuit on Friday to raise money for Marie Curie Cancer Care.

Jamie Hills, store manager at Homebase, in Queensgate Centre, off Edinburgh Way, joined employee Steve Day and Waltham Cross branch manager Peter Easter in a triathlon challenge. Starting with a one-mile swim at Harlow's Esporta gym, the trio took to the town's cycle paths for a five-mile bike ride back to the store before running the final mile.

Mr Hills raised £583 for the charity and said: "The team at Harlow Homebase set me a challenge to raise money for a very worthwhile cause. Not being one to decline a challenge, I rose to the occasion and was very pleased with the amount donated by staff here."

HARLOW Parliamentary candidate Robert Halfon has joined regional business organisations in pouring scorn on the Government's inaugural Pre-Budget Report.

The criticism comes after Chancellor Alistair Darling found himself at the centre of a political storm after he gave a speech to the House of Commons last week which the Tories claim outlined policies "stolen" from them.

Now Mr Halfon has added his voice to Mr Darling's detractors, branding the report – which included a promise to raise the inheritance tax threshold – a "political gimmick" and further warning that plans to introduce new business rates will hit Harlow traders hard.

"It seems as though borrowing is up, taxes are up and council taxes will inevitably rise by up to five per cent," he told the Star. "Mr Darling pulled a couple of neat political stunts on the issue of inheritance tax, but according to the financial experts these changes are already possible due to loopholes in the current system."

Mr Halfon added that the introduction of supplementary business rates and changes to capital gains tax will hit Harlow's small businesses hard.

"These proposals do absolutely nothing for small companies in the town, who are already under an enormous tax burden following the last Budget."

The Essex Federation of Small Businesses was likewise critical of Mr Darling's report, claiming small firms are still reeling from corporation tax hikes announced during Mr Brown's final Budget before becoming Prime Minister.

FSB regional organiser Terry Taber said: "The UK's small business community – which contributes over half the country's Gross Domestic Product – will not be helped by increased business rates and a less generous capital gains scheme.

"This report looks set to increase the financial burdens on small businesses at a time when they are contributing more than ever to the UK economy. The Government has again failed to recognise that contribution."

MP Bill Rammell responded: "We have got record stability and record low interest rates with this Government compared to the chaos we had under the Tories.

"The restructuring of the capital gains tax system was in response to the concerns raised by the business sector because it was criticised for being too complicated.

"That is why we have come up with the new structure and I cannot see it having a negative impact."

Paedophile wins court appeal for shorter sentence

A FORMER council worker who was jailed indefinitely for paedophile offences could be out in 18 months after his sentence was reduced on appeal.

Robert Barwell (32), who worked fielding press enquiries and managing the website for Epping Forest Council, received an 'imprisonment for public protection' sentence after pleading guilty to sexual activity with a child and internet grooming.

It meant he would have to persuade the authorities he was no longer a danger to the public before he could stand any chance of being released.

But judges sitting at the Court of Appeal have now ruled the original sentence was "manifestly excessive" and cut it to a conventional four-year term. Barwell, of Roundhills, Waltham Abbey, could now be free within 18 months.

In November 2005 Barwell met his victim in an internet chatroom when she was just 13. A friendship developed as Barwell helped the youngster deal with problems she was experiencing, but the relationship stepped over the line when they began meeting a month later.

He took her to the cinema and ballet and in February 2006 booked a hotel room where she performed a sex act on him.

The abuse came to light when the girl's parents became suspicious and called police. Barwell was arrested and immediately admitted the offences.

Giving reasons for the decision to reduce the original sentence, Mr Justice Grigson said Barwell was a man of previous good character and he pleaded guilty at the first opportunity.

"He was genuinely remorseful. He had sought to help the girl and, in letters from the child's family, it is plain that to some extent what he had done had been of benefit.

"That he is an intelligent man helps him in that he recognises what he did was wrong and he is seeking to address his paedophilic tendencies. On the other hand he must have known what he was doing was wrong and that the girl was very vulnerable."

Guests have a ball raising cash for cancer unit

A TOUCH of Las Vegas glamour was brought to High Wych on Friday as doctors set about raising funds for cancer research. The black tie charity ball held at the Manor of Groves Hotel attracted around 500 guests. Entertainment was provided by

Tax hikes 'will hit vulnerable'

By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL tax in Harlow has doubled over the past 10 years and is set to go up by a further £200 over the next three years.

That is the warning from local Conservatives following the Government's Comprehensive Spending Review which sets out tax and spending plans for the next three years.

The Local Government Association, the body representing councils in England and Wales, predicts the money allocated to local authorities means that in most areas council tax will have to rise by well above the rate of inflation.

Although authorities will be given marginally more money than previous years, it is thought they will actually be worse off due to the financial burden of having more responsibilities.

Andrew Johnson, leader of the Conservative opposition on Harlow Council, said this would see the average Band D council tax bill in Harlow rocket to £1,639 by 2010. Currently Band D households pay £1,416 a year, a 101 per cent increase on the £705 paid in 1997-98.

"The Government under Gordon Brown is continuing what it did when he was Chancellor, heaping more responsibilities like licensing and

Tory cash 'levels playing field'

CLAIMS that Conservative candidates are being given an unfair electoral advantage because of large amounts of cash being injected into marginal seats like Harlow by party bankers have been dismissed by Parliamentary hopeful Robert Halfon.

Mr Halfon, who cut Harlow MP Bill Rammell's majority to just 97 at the last general election, wrote a letter to The Guardian on Tuesday in which he described complaints about multi-millionaire supporter Michael Ashcroft paying for expensive campaigning in key seats as a "Labour red herring".

"As a prospective Parliamentary candidate fighting to overturn a Labour majority of 97, I am faced with a huge inbuilt disadvantage," he wrote.

"Not only does the MP have £18,000 of taxpayer funds annually to communicate with the electorate, not forgetting the £10,000 bonus recently added, he also has £7,000 postal expenses and a fully-staffed office also paid for by the taxpayer.

"Labour MPs have a huge head start over any challenger. Support from Ashcroft and others to Conservative Parliamentary candidates merely levels the playing field."

Speaking on BBC Radio Five Live last week, Mr Halfon admitted that Conservative Central Office had injected several thousand pounds into the constituency although he denied suggestions this ran into a five-figure sum.

gambling on councils without increasing the grant enough to pay for them," said Mr Johnson.

"That's what is going to lead to these big council tax rises or cuts in services."

Robert Halfon, Conservative Parliamentary candidate for Harlow, also weighed in, adding: "The inflation-busting hikes will hit the most vulnerable in Harlow the hardest, particularly pensioners on fixed incomes."

However, joint Harlow Council leader Tony Durcan (Labour) dismissed the Tory warnings as scaremongering and said the comments were timed to coincide with next week's council by-elections in Toddbrook and Little Parndon.

He also said recent developments such as the outsourcing of council services to private firm Kier Harlow showed how the council could save money and avoid big tax hikes.

"If everything stayed the same then, yes, that is what we would need to do, but everything isn't staying the same," said Mr Durcan.

"Harlow Council is developing and growing and as a result there are more financial opportunities open to us."

REVIEW

MURDER IN COMPANY

Global Theatre Company
The Playhouse, Harlow

CREATING a whodunit murder mystery which actually pulls audiences to the edges of their seats is quite a feat but, to judge by this production, it's certainly not an impossible one.

Philip King and John Boland's play is a snappy production which quickly has theatregoers guessing at the identity of the femme fatal – or indeed, the homme fatal – in an amusing yet cleverly assembled play-within-a-play.

Produced and directed by Michael Phillips, the play is set in a church hall used as a rehearsal space by a dysfunctional amateur dramatics group.

The well-observed characters soon air their dirty washing as thespians Liz (Alison Roberts) and Alan (Andy Bownass) are seen in each others arms by nosey church-hall caretaker Ted Smith (Keith Cummings).

Liz, who is married to play producer Phillip (Richard Hollis), is then blackmailed about the encounter by Smith who has a dark past known by fellow am dram member Phoebe (Christine Hollis).

As the group tries to rehearse its latest production which is – you guessed it! – a murder mystery whodunit, in-fighting, a prowler and a mysterious death are all thrown into the mix which finally ends up with the various characters all pointing the finger of accusation at each other with the most unlikely results.

For sheer presence and credibility, Hollis was the clear stand-out performer, particularly when his character was accused of being the prowler and the scene in which he told his wife he was innocent struck a note of pure truth.

The twists and turns are truly gripping and each member of the eight-strong cast brought their own touch of magic to the proceedings. This is amateur dramatics at its best.

Life before a new town

KEEN local historians can get a taste of what life was like in Harlow during the early 20th century with the release of a book detailing one resident's memories.

Harlow Recollections is the second volume of memoirs penned by the late Jim Priest in which he describes life in Harlow before the New Town was built via short stories, pictures and maps.

Staff at The Museum of Harlow undertook the painstaking task of re-typing a manuscript written by Mr Priest.

The project, jointly funded by the museum and Friends of Harlow Museum, took two years and finally resulted with the book's launch on Saturday.

Museum manager Chris Lydamore said: "This is a verbatim script and we have digitalised images and maps to sharpen them up so it has been quite a slow process but it has been worth it and it will be of interest to a lot of local people."

sound check with Chris Moss

THIS week we break from the norm to give a sneak preview of Harlow's brand spanking new alternative music night, Black Sheep. Starting tonight (Thursday) at Bar 21, will this be a small step towards rock'n'roll salvation following the debacle at The Square?

FED up with the nauseating repetition of dancing around your handbag to the same cheesy chart choons every time you put on your glad rags and stroll into Harlow of an evening? Do you long for something a little different to the tiresome predictability of your average cattle market sweatpit?

Then fret no longer, disenchanted youth, because a new club night specialising in a wildly eclectic musical mash-up of indie, punk, funk, metal and hip-hop is here to make your ears bleed and slap a big smile on your face. The brainchild of promoter and seasoned metalhead

Michael Stockley (of Narcan fame), Black Sheep is a valiant attempt to offer quality music and cheap booze to the baying hordes of bored adolescents who shake with uncontrollable horror at the prospect of another night in Liquid.

"Being into the alternative music scene myself and having toured with my band all over the country, I could see that Harlow was crying out for a night like this," Michael told Sound Check.

"There's nothing for the over-18s in the town apart from your usual trance and dance stuff since The Square wound down, so I thought it was the perfect time to launch something as eclectic as Black Sheep."

Black Sheep begins tonight at Bar 21, in Post Office Walk. Entry is free all night and all drinks cost £2.

MUSIC: The De Merc Chamber Choir will be entertaining members of the Harlow Music Society at Great Parndon Community Association tonight (Thursday). Guests will be treated to a range of musical genres as well as short talks from choir members. The show starts at 8pm and tickets are available on the door, £5 for members and £5.50 for guests.

MUSIC: Elvis look-a-likes will be in The Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) for Elvis In Concert. The show is a spin-off by an award-winning producer and performers of the successful Rockin' On Heaven's Door. The show opens with Steve Halliday performing as Elvis during his GI period then goes on to the rock 'n' roll classics. The curtain goes up at 8pm. Tickets cost £16.50.

DANCE: Hip-hop comes to Harlow in the form of the South East Hip-Hop Dance Championships. Host Hip-Hop Pop is presenting the most talented dancers to compete for cash prizes in the first show of its kind to come to the area. The day promises to be jam-packed with entertainment as dancers of various ages compete to freestyle their way to being crowned the best in their group and there will also be performances from six guest dancers. The day runs in two sessions, at 11am and 4pm on Saturday. Tickets are £9 for the morning and £10 for the afternoon. Day tickets cost £15.

COMEDY: Actor and comedian Dave Lemkin headlines a night of stand-up at the Half Moon Comedy Club, in the Park Inn, Harlow. The evening will also feature resident compere Ian Stacey. The show starts at 8.30pm on Sunday November 7. Tickets cost £7.50 on the door.

CHILDREN: Rainbow Big Bottom and Mr Panda – The Magical Bamboo will be coming to The Playhouse as a special half-term treat on Wednesday. Through singing, balloon making, story telling and music children learn the story of Mr Panda. The show is ideal for children aged between 3-8. Tickets cost £6 or £20 for a family.

Starstruck lover's quest to find a heavenly body

WITH a gilt-edged cast and luscious effects, this post-modern fairy tale is sure to wow families at half-term.

While contemporary retellings of classic tales and cautionary fables are the latest gimmick for children's film producers – Hoodwinked and Shrek being the best examples – this cobwebs-and-dark-forests offering is trying to sell us the whole genre in one mouthful.

STARDUST
certificate PG, running time 2h8min

The story begins in the English village of Wall, so named for the cobblestone barrier which separates the human inhabitants from a mysterious parallel world. An old man has guarded the wall's only vulnerable spot for decades, making sure no-one enters or leaves through the portal. However, one person who does manage to escape is Tristan Thorne (Charlie Cox). He is in love with the town beauty Victoria (Sienna Miller) but his affections appear to be unrequited as she's just a little too hard to please.

Her attitude changes, however, when drooling Tristan promises to retrieve a fallen star for her. Recognising that this is something beyond her current boyfriend's reach, she gives Tristan one week to bring back the star from the other side and promises that if he succeeds she will marry him.

Tristan finds the star, only to discover that it has taken the form of a young woman, Yvaine (Claire Danes), who accompanies him back to Wall.

Meanwhile, evil witch Lamia (Michelle Pfeiffer) wants to use Yvaine to regain her own youth and beauty while there's additional competition from the sons of the ailing King (Peter O'Toole) who have been told that whoever retrieves the star will become the formal heir to the throne.

Watch out for performances from Robert De Niro as a camp pirate and Ricky Gervais as a shady trader.

Searching for a terror suspect

certificate 15, running time 2h2min

WITH the dubious American practice of extraordinary rendition – transporting terrorist suspects around the world so that they can be “questioned” more effectively – being so much in the news recently, it was always only going to be a matter of time before Hollywood threw in its threepenneth.

Rendition follows the efforts of Isabella El-Ibrahimi (Reese Witherspoon, pictured) who is determined to discover what has become of her Egyptian-born husband Anwar (Omar Metwally) when he disappears on a flight from South Africa to Washington DC.

Meanwhile, at a secret detention facility somewhere in Africa, CIA analyst Douglas Freeman (Jake Gyllenhaal) is tasked with interrogating the innocent terror suspect.

As noble as the political message might be, director Gavin Hood falls into the not uncommon trap of presenting a host of lazy stereotypes as characters, from Witherspoon's distraught expectant mother to Gyllenhaal's ruthless baddie who discovers his conscience.

The battle's on for warrior Will

certificate 12A, running time 1h34m

BASED on the acclaimed novel by Susan Cooper, this is the first film adaptation of the author's popular children's series.

It tells the story of Will (Alexander Ludwig), a young man who learns he is the last of a group of warriors who have dedicated their lives to fighting the forces of the Dark.

Travelling through time, Will discovers a series of clues which lead him into a showdown with forces of unimaginable power. With the Dark once again rising, the future of the world rests in Will's hands.

THE TURN
Alison Moyet (album, Universal)
Moyet's first album of original recordings in five years is a work of effortlessly soulful majesty underpinned by her distinctively burlesque vocal talents. Displaying real depth and deftness of touch, the album shifts from the woozy orchestration of epic opener One More Time to the piano-led doleful dinner jazz of The Man In The Wings, before throwing the listener a curveball with the jaunty power pop of It's Not The Thing Henry. By the time the slow blues of melancholy curtain-call Smaller ambles onto the stage and the captivating cabaret comes to a close, you can't help but applaud Moyet's brazen genre-hopping genius.

FABRIC 37
Steve Bug (album, Fabric)
Another worthy addition to the ever-growing Fabric catalogue, this Steve Bug-compiled selection of seductive 4/4 groove workouts is a zoned-out masterpiece. Featuring choice cuts from Afrilounge, Adultnapper and techno wizard Steve Rachmand, the eclectic mix is skilfully reined in by Bug's minimalist aesthetic and successfully straddles the fine line between techno and house, capturing the essence of a hypnotic all-nighter in a dark warehouse somewhere in deepest South London.

PARADES
Efterklang (album, Leaf)
This psychedelic post-rock offering from the Copenhagen quartet is as innovative as anything you'd expect from Scandanavia, and as well packaged. And leaving out any stale puns about Denmark, this is an extremely enjoyable, uplifting somatic experience. These guys really know their electronica bacon and, if you can af-fjord it go and treat yourself to this little pastry which is mermaid by geniuses. Sorry. But enough of that, this is intelligent music for the cognoscenti and all fans of Mercury Rev, Bjork and the like will love its vast and dramatic soundscape.

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20

If you need to get advice on shuffling your assets or committing to a savings plan, keep an open mind. People can have their own motives and an independent person could be just the character to give you an unvarnished opinion. In relationships of all kinds, keep the door open. Dialogue may have stalled with one person, but do try again. Call to hear why a Libran person can figure.

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

A kindly person, one with your best interests at heart, can gently guide your moves. You can feel cosseted by them, because you know that they don't want anything from you and are motivated by being protective of your needs. This can lead to a big decision being made. Socially, friends who are a bit wacky and off the wall can match your mood. Call for more on your love life this week.

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

Your ruler is still speeding backwards, but what can delight is that someone you really liked can continue to attract but now at last, you can get chatting to one another. This may be someone you work with or come into contact with in your daily routine. Yet the chance to move this forwards may break suddenly. You'll need to think on your feet. Call to hear why work can be unpredictable.

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

The Sun will do much to boost your batteries and yet that family conversation or sensitive issue may still need discussing. You could surprise yourself by finally coming out with how you feel but once you do you can feel an awful lot happier. A load off your mind? Absolutely. What you can also demonstrate is just how perceptive you can be. Call to hear how the Sun's move can help you.

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

Don't procrastinate about important paperwork. If you leave things to chance you get caught out. And anyway, once you get your head down and concentrate you can draw up an impressive proposal or response. Kindness is said to be next closest to Godliness and your extremely thoughtful gesture can really make a vital difference Leo. Call your Special Prediction Line for your week in full.

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

Be persistent around finances. You may find yourself going over old ground, but rather than grumbling see this as a second chance to finally sort this scenario out, once and for all. Your quick wits can certainly help you, with you being fast to learn what's what. A thank you card, letter or text can also cheer - especially if it's unexpected. Call to hear how you can receive extra attention.

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

An issue you thought you'd dealt with can need a second look. This may seem a bit galling to begin with, but bear with it and this time whatever is decided can stick. This could involve you writing an application of proposal. Be prepared to be flexible about money and working matters and luck can drop. Your imagination can be awesome too. Use it! Call for more on Mercury's link with Pluto.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

With the Sun starting to get a toehold in your own sign, don't let any nagging doubts creep into the back of your mind. It's true one situation is crawling along at a snails pace, but rather than fret do the things that you know can affect your prospects positively. A quiet word with a contact can let you know the lay of the land, in business or in love. Call me Scorpio if sadness keeps coming up.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Knowledge is a big thing with you. Why? Because you have such an avid desire to soak up facts. Standing still is dull. You want to keep hunting down new sources of information. And something along these lines can come nicely up to the boil now. Solo? An introduction through the family could intrigue but you may not want to advertise it too much — yet! Call me for more news and views.

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

You can feel more optimistic about your prospects but with Mercury still travelling backwards there can be a frustrating delay concerning a property or commercial issue. And yet someone can be immensely kind. They may not say too much, but a surprise gift or token of affection can come your way and you can treasure it Capricorn. Call to hear why a Libra boss could prove influential.

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

You can surprise people by being both competitive and yet noble. You want to do your best, but perhaps not at any cost and an inspiring relationship can build up on the back of your fairness and rather novel approaches. A contractual issue, one that's dragged along for far too long can also be finally resolved. In love, a sultry Virgo can fascinate. Call to hear why money can be up and down.

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

The start of the week can be unpredictable in your love life. But do you know Pisces there can be part of you that thrives on this intensity - if not actually enjoying it. Professionally your special ability to tune into the thoughts of decision makers can see you do well. Don't underestimate yourself. Everyone has psychic ability it's believing it. Call me now for the inside story.

A fantastic Christmas party for 12 people

WITH Christmas just around the corner, thoughts are turning to party time.

And if you are looking for a unique experience, Blakes restaurant at North Weald could be the answer.

Set in the beautiful Essex countryside, this restaurant has the ambience and sophistication of a London-style restaurant but also offers panoramic views over a golf course along with lush green lawns which set it apart from the competition.

And this week we are giving you the chance to win a Christmas party at Blakes for up to TWELVE people.

This year Blakes is holding its renowned Christmas party nights every evening throughout December. So whether you are arranging a night out with friends and family or organising the office Christmas night out, Blakes is the ideal venue.

It can cater for parties from 2-250 guests. You will start your evening with a champagne cocktail followed by an exquisite three-course meal served with half a bottle of wine. After that you can dance into the early hours to the house DJ.

If your Christmas calendar is already looking busy, why not brighten up a cold December day by booking a traditional Christmas lunch at Blakes with your friends and family, available during the week and on Sunday.

The restaurant, with its modern and relaxed atmosphere, also offers an impressive a la carte menu from Thursday to Saturday evenings.

To stand a chance of winning the prize of a Christmas party, all you have to do is answer the simple question in the coupon and follow the entry instructions.

For more information about Blakes, ring (01992) 525151 or visit the website at www.blakesgolfclub.com

Join us for an unforgettable holiday, as you sail from the London Cruise Terminal at Tilbury on one of our range of wonderful – and wonderful value – cruises on board the excellently appointed MS Marco Polo.

There really is nothing finer than a holiday that combines fascinating days and exciting nights, in a variety of different, interesting destinations, time spent in the company of friendly faces and all the comforts of a good hotel. This is what we have on offer on board Marco Polo next summer, and all at superb value prices!

In an age of vast, impersonal, floating hotels, 22,000-tonne Marco Polo, her profile marking her out as the epitome of sea-going elegance even before you've stepped aboard, is a beautiful ocean liner in the classic tradition. Offering high levels of comfort, sumptuous dining in stylish surrounds, and a genuinely warm welcome from a crew who go out of their way to place your enjoyment of your holiday above everything else, Marco Polo will offer everything you might expect of such a vessel, from the minute you first glimpse her, until the time you bid her "Adieu". Lounges and bars, restaurants, sun decks and pool, a range of comfortable cabins and a full entertainment programme by day and by night ensure your cruising pleasure, and of course there's always the ever-changing view to savour, and new ports of call to explore.

Our fantastic value cruise programme features Round Britain voyages, journeys to the heart-stoppingly beautiful Norwegian fjords, journeys north – beyond the Arctic Circle – to remote North Cape, the Land of the Midnight Sun, and to Iceland, stunning realm of geysers and volcanoes, to the Baltic cities, where you'll call at magnificent Tallinn and Imperial St Petersburg, as well as Scandinavian capitals Helsinki, Stockholm and Copenhagen; to the Emerald Isle and Scotland, and finally, as "autumn leaves begin to fall", to the glorious Caribbean!

With tremendous prices that even include on board gratuities, you'll be hard pressed to find such incredible value for cruising next year!

Technical Operations Manager – PH0040

£25,737 - £26,943

Harlow Playhouse requires a Technical Operations Manager to take responsibility for the theatre's technical department.

Reporting to the Theatre Manager, you will be responsible for the smooth running of the technical department, ensuring that a professional and efficient service is offered at all times. You will also be responsible for the maintenance and improvement of the fabric and equipment of the building. You will have experience in stage or technical management in a performance venue. Evening and weekend work, some of it physical, is involved in this challenging yet rewarding role.

If you are a committed individual with a demonstrable appreciation of the Performing Arts, this is your opportunity to play a leading role in the development of this vibrant and increasingly popular venue.

Box Office Supervisor – PH0061

£18,327 - £19,299

Harlow Playhouse requires a Box Office Supervisor to take responsibility for the operation of its increasingly busy Box Office.

Reporting to the Marketing and PR Manager, you will be responsible for the smooth running of the Playhouse's Box Office, ensuring that an accessible, courteous and efficient service is offered at all times.
You will have experience in an office or telesales environment and will preferably be able to demonstrate a working knowledge of theatre ticketing systems. Experience of working in a Box Office at a theatre, cinema or similar venue would be advantageous, though not essential. Evening and weekend work is involved in this challenging yet rewarding role, which places customer care top of the bill.

If you're an outgoing individual, with a demonstrable appreciation of the Performing Arts, this is your chance to play a leading role in the development of this vibrant and popular local theatre.

Box Office Assistant – PH0030

£13,791 - £14,568

Harlow Playhouse requires a fulltime Box Office Assistant to work in its increasingly busy Box Office.

This is a permanent fulltime position offering a contracted 37.5 hours a week, part of which will be taken up by evening and weekend work.

You will be able to demonstrate experience in customer care and have a vibrant and outgoing personality. A demonstrable appreciation of the Performing Arts will be required, as will an ability to work well under pressure. Although experience of working with ticketing software would be an advantage, this is not essential and full training will be provided.

At Harlow Playhouse we pride ourselves on providing a first rate service to all of our customers. Here is your chance to be a part of the region's premier live entertainment venue.

Supervisor/Shift Managers: Salary OTE £24K - £30K pa

CERT Group is the UK's most successful bonded warehouse operator, with a reputation for logistical expertise and attention to detail that is second to none. The key to our success is simple; we care for our customers' brands and products like they are our own, and set the industry standard in storage, delivery and customer service.

With an eye for detail and a willingness to go the extra mile, you'll work perfectly alongside our customer-focussed team and take pride in exceeding expectations at every step of the way. Having previously worked in a warehousing or distribution position, you'll be ready to hit the ground running and have a working knowledge of health and safety regulations. Candidates applying for a supervisory role should also be able to demonstrate previous people management experience.

In return, you can expect a competitive salary and a career with a fast-moving, forward-thinking, market leader.

These are just a selection of the various opportunities available with CERT. We are always looking to strengthen our team, and therefore please send us your CV if you are interested in a particular role which may be available.

To apply, simply email your CV with covering letter to nco@cert.co.uk or post to Neil Cowey, CERT Group, St Martins Road, Hoddesdon, Herts, EN11 0BT.

She's ready to Rumble!

EPPING Badminton Club player Lizzie Rumble (18) clinched the women's singles title at the Essex County Badminton Championships.

She completed all her games in two sets and beat Charlotte Lane in the final. Epping's Ian Smith competed in the men's doubles and mixed doubles, winning one final but losing another.

He and mixed partner Adi Munro defeated Karina Bryant and David Gotts in three sets.

In the men's doubles, Ian and Danny Plant were beaten 21-17, 21-16 by Richard Accomando and Eddie Chow in the final.

Leader's win sets up clash at unbeaten Basildon

LIEZEL HANSSON'S table-topping Harlow side continued their fine start to the season with a tight win over visiting Maldon & Little Baddow.

It was Harlow's fourth successive victory and kept them top on goal difference ahead of the only other unbeaten team, Basildon.

The result also sets up Harlow's clash at Gloucester Park, Basildon, on Saturday.

The match started at pace with

Harlow Ladies 1, Maldon & Little Baddow 0

(Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division)

Harlow pushing forward from the whistle, but the well-marshalled Maldon defence kept fine attacks from Bethan Price and Charlotte Byers at bay.

When a series of short corners were not converted, the visitors found fresh confidence and skilful hitting from Stella Shires constantly provided an outlet for the Blackwater estuary side.

With 18 minutes left in the first half Harlow broke the deadlock when a fine effort from Carolyn Rushton was deflected into the net by forward Sonya Amos.

The second half reflected the first with Harlow having the better of the chances.

Charlotte Byers caused havoc in the opposing circle and player of the match Petra Trimble controlled mid-field, but with only the one goal separating the two teams there was a nervous last five minutes as Maldon searched for an equaliser.

Only quick thinking by Jo Green in defence and keeper Nicky Chesworth denied the visitors.

HARLOW LADIES: Chesworth, Shearman-Slack, Hansson, Jo Green, Price, Trimble, Rushton, Steenekamp, Byers, Amos, Tweddle, Donaghey (squad).

Skipper hits eight in a 10-goal blitz

Havering III 1, Harlow 10

(NE14 Hockey East Hockey League, division four south east)

AN eight-goal haul from skipper Steve White was the highlight of yet another tremendous all-round team performance from Harlow.

The visitors started the match in determined style and soon had the upper hand in the match. Luke Krzoska had an inspired game and controlled the midfield, well assisted by Joe Symmonds.

It was this control that allowed Chris Shearman-Slack and wide men Rob Chandler and Justin Hayward to expose the fragile home defence.

The breakthrough came only five minutes into the game when a fierce shot from Chandler was saved by the keeper only for White to control and slot home.

The game continued in the same vein — with Harlow spending most of the time camped in the Havering defensive third.

Any attack that Havering did muster was extinguished by strong defending from Jordan Torvill and Steve Jones in the centre of the

GR-EIGHT SHOW: Harlow captain Steve White (JRWVWCRVP04)

Harlow defence.

This defensive stability granted full-backs

Mike Prodger and Kyle Plumridge the freedom to push further up the pitch and allow Harlow to pass the ball around at will.

The match was over within the first 12 minutes as White completed his hat-trick.

The skipper scored the fourth from a well-worked penalty corner involving Krzoska.

Good approach work by Shearman-Slack set up Chandler for Harlow's fifth. He guided a shot in at the back post.

Shearman-Slack completed the first period scoring — slamming home an unstoppable shot from the top of the 'D'.

At 6-0 up, Harlow took 10 minutes to get into the second half.

However, Krzoska then took control, allowing Shearman-Slack and Chandler to attack at will down the right flank.

White scored another four goals in the second half to complete double figures for Harlow after just three games.

The Havering consolation came at 9-0 when a well-worked free hit saw a forward deflect home at the back post.

Harlow even had the luxury of having a penalty flick saved during the second period — without it mattering.

HARLOW: Norris, Jones, Prodger, Torvill, Plumridge, Chandler, Symmonds, Krzoska, Hayward, Shearman-Slack, White.

Whites move into second after impressive victory

IT has been an exciting opening quarter in the Harlow Star Youth Community Football League.

The final matches were played on Sunday prior to this week's half-term.

The league programme will recommence on October 28.

In the U10's, HARLOW TOWN WHITES triumphed 2-0 at FC PARINGDON.

Aaron Thomas opened the scoring before player-of-the-match Daniel Morgan crossed for Lewis Lawford to head in the second.

The Whites are second in their division.

In the U-12s, LANGLEY COLTS MUSTANGS won a five-goal thriller against Connaught.

The visitors struck through

Gregory Wright, Karim Francis and Brett Hilsden.

The Link-based WARE U-11's won 3-1 at Epping to continue their good start.

Jack Reid's delightful headed goal into the top right corner opened the scoring.

On the stroke of half-time the hosts levelled.

Reid added an excellent second after the break.

New player Lewis Chalk added

the third with a fierce strike.

LANGLEY COLTS STALLIONS U-11's won 5-1 at Saturn. The scorers included Zak Norris (3) and Luke Crichton.

LANGLEY COLTS TROJANS U-11's won 16-1 at RISDEN WOOD.

On target were Spencer Finlay, Connor Monk, Jake Tworney-Law (5), Callum Richardson (6), Shea Glynn (2), while an own goal boosted their tally.

In the U-9s, LANGLEY COLTS STALLIONS won 2-0 at home to EPPING YOUTH.

Sam Chaplin and Tyler Ackerman-Mond got the goals.

Luke Henry struck twice as LANGLEY COLTS TROJANS won 2-0 against club-mates LANGLEY COLTS

MUSTANGS.

Team's bad start continues with last-second winner

THE disappointing start to the Herts Basketball League season continued with a 75-76 defeat to Middlesex University for Harlow Hawks at the Sportcentre on Friday.

The narrow loss in the first group game of the Division One League Cup competition came despite a good start for Shab Niaz's side.

The Hawks shot the ball well in the first quarter, and did a good job to contain the Uni team.

Paul Jessop started the scoring with a strong move to the basket, followed by a jump shot from Niaz and a three-pointer from Jessop.

Hawks led 16-14 at the end of the first quarter.

Good defence kept Middlesex scoreless for the first three minutes of the second quarter, while Amit Sharma struck at the other end.

Niaz hit back-to-back three pointers, while Sharma rounded off a 13-0 run.

The visitors hit back, but Harlow still took the quarter 22-8 and were leading 38-32 going into half-time.

The Hawks started the third quarter comfortably with a 13-7 run while Mike Freeman made a 10-point contribution.

In the fourth quarter the Hawks stretched their lead to 59-47.

Middlesex fought back to 71-68 but a three-pointer from Niaz plus a Jessop score gave Harlow a healthy lead with just over a minute and half to go.

But the match remained in the balance as Middlesex pushed on.

Hawks led 75-74 with seconds remaining but an excellent score over the heads of two Harlow players gave Middlesex the victory.

HARLOW HAWKS: Niaz (24pts), Freeman (19), Jessop (16), Haddow (7) Sharma (5), Jones (4) Collier, Ramadan, Nguyen, Wright, Burgess, Spashett.

Lewis stars at West Essex Champs

BRAVE Lewis Ball overcame severe cramp to win the intermediate boys event at the West Essex School Cross Country Championships.

Harlow's Burnt Mill School hosted the event.

The Harlow youngster triumphed with his best performance to date across almost three miles.

After staying with the leaders over the first lap the Mark Hall School student applied the pressure and broke clear, building up a handsome advantage over his rivals.

With half a mile to go Lewis got cramp in his right leg but showed tremendous courage to hang on and win easily.

Essex team manager John Stow said: "If Lewis can reproduce this form in the Essex Schools I am confident he could gain his first county vest."

In 4th place was St Mark's School (Harlow) student Julian Tamplin, who is also a member of Harlow Running Club.

Hot on his heels was Mark Hall student Tom Larkin.

St Mark's student Jamie Solomen was 6th, with Stewards school pupil Daniel Yaxley in 7th.

All these have qualified to represent West Essex in the Essex Schools Cross Country Championships in January 2008.

In the intermediate girls race, held over 1.7 miles, another fine effort came from North Weald's Mary Ryan who clinched 3rd place.

Alice Singleton (Burnt Mill) had a great run to come 16th.

Sophie Fuhr (13), from Burnt Mill, had a superb run to come 2nd in the junior girls race.

Mary Ryan and Sophie have also qualified for the Essex Cross Country Championships.

Several Harlow athletes competed in an Essex Cross Country League meeting at Stubbers in south Essex.

In the U-13 girls 3,000m, Marleen Avontuur came 5th in 15 mins 34 secs.

Isobel Moss was 31st in 19:06.

In the U-13 boys 3,000m Stuart Somerville was 12th in 4:51, while Harry Synowski was 25th in 16:05.

Julian Tamplin was 26th in the U-17s in 28:31, over a 4,300m distance.

Pretenders into second

DARTS

YOUNG Pretenders' 7-1 win against Swift Arrows pushed them into second place in the Harlow & District Darts League.

They sit behind Servopoint, who overcame Swift Halves 5-3. That result notched Halves down to third place.

Five players hit 180 maximum scores. They were: Alex Hogg (CC Whites), Ron Green (Moot House Arrows), Dave Galloway (White Admiral), Billy Nelmies (GPCA Servopoint) and Rob Wimslow (Young Pretenders).

Other results: CC Whites 5, Moot House 3; White Admiral 6, UG Social 2; Moot House Arrows 4, CC Foxes 4.

SHAB Niaz hopes his Harlow Hawks Basketball Club can take the sport up to the next level for young people — by hosting this year's Herts Junior Central Venue League (JCVL).

It may seem odd that a Hertfordshire-based competition is hopping over the county boundary into Essex, but player-coach Niaz and the clubs that have pledged to support the venture believe it is for the good of the sport.

Last season the competition was held at St Albans.

Niaz has been working alongside the other junior team representatives, Herts Basketball Association and Mark Hall Sportcentre in order to get the new league set up.

"The team administrators are keen for the league to be set up and run in Harlow — and make it a success," he explained.

The club has had a long affinity with Hertfordshire — its first team plays in the Herts Basketball League.

Harlow has long been a hot bed for basketball, and some 65 kids were attached to the Hawks last season, with the majority of them returning this season, plus some new faces.

Clubs from Colchester, Baldock-based North Herts Knights, Stevenage, Barnet, Cambridge and Ware are expected to send youth teams to Mark Hall Sportcentre for the new monthly tournament starting in November, which will cater for three different age groups: Under-11s, U-14s and U-17s.

Niaz hopes more clubs will come forward and join the new league in the future as its success grows. "All I need is three other clubs and I can put teams in each age group and then it's all go," he said. "It's a development league aimed at trying to get players interested for the year."

Niaz has a whole new structure planned for the central league. "We will have shorter game time — but more games," he explained. "Each team will play two or three games at each event. It's more value for them [the players] and they will learn more from different players and game situations. The emphasis is on more games and player-club development."

The teams will play up to 21 games over a seven-month season, and if teams play three games each month, Niaz says the £5 cost for each Hawks player represents good value for money considering they were paying the same for one game last year.

The games will involve six teams representing each age group, with roll-on substitutes to ensure all the players get court time. The U-11 age group will play on a smaller court with lower baskets than their U-14 and U-17 counterparts.

The four-a-side games will involve teams of six representing each age group, with roll-on substitutes to ensure all the players get court time.

"There will be a rule that no one can play the whole game and all players must play at least one full quarter," Niaz explained. "It's no good for the others if one good player is playing all the time."

"Hopefully it will attract more people and we will have more teams in it," he said.

Niaz is certainly a basketball expert. He has played the sport for 20 years and enjoyed an eight-year spell in the National League with Ware Rebels, Ware Fire, plus a play-off appearance with Barking and Dagenham.

The Hawks coach is also keen to recruit young referees for its new league, and he says the experience of managing at this level is a good starting point for up-and-coming officials on their way up the basketball ladder.

"We want to help with the sport's progression. We can help get officials qualified to enable them to referee senior games in Hertfordshire and Essex. At junior level there is no backchat. If they [referees] start in the deep end with senior players, it can demoralise you," he explained.

The club, which was formed in 1999, also has an U-8 age group session to cater for primary school children in Years 1-3.

Niaz is preparing for his team to move from Harlow Sportcentre when the complex closes down ahead of a move to a new site on the old Harlow College grounds in Velizy Avenue.

In the interim, the club is playing and training at the Sportcentre, while the U-17's have switched to the plush new Mark Hall Sportcentre in London Road.

Niaz explained: "Not all the juniors that come along to our training sessions play on the teams that compete in the JCVL, some of them just want to join in to learn the game. It's important that they mix with the team players as they will also learn a lot from them as well as the coaches."

"Mark Hall is an ideal venue as it has double courts and portable baskets where the nets can be lowered for small children."

Great start for champions

HARLOW Hawks got the defence of their East Region League title off to a tremendous start with a good win against Peterborough-based Lithuanian newcomers Vytis on Saturday.

Shab Niaz's side had to show their 'clinical' nature — especially as they were playing a team which sounded like some sort of bacterial infection!

Vytis got on the scoresheet with the first possession from the tip-off as they moved the ball to find an open man for a three-pointer.

Hawks responded with a short jump shot and a three-pointer by Paul Jessop.

The visitors used their extra height to full effect and put together an 11-3 run to take a six-point lead.

But Harlow hit back with scores from Jessop, Dan Scott and Mike Freeman to regain the lead.

Harlow Hawks 79, Vytis 73
(East Region League)

The Hawks finished the quarter with a 9-4 run and led 26-18 at the end of the first quarter.

Vytis made a better start in the second quarter as they went on an 8-3 run. Hawks' only score came courtesy of a Mark Overland three-pointer.

However, a Niaz buzzer-beating three-pointer secured a 41-33 half-time lead.

Good play from Vytis cut the deficit, only for Jessop to respond with a three-pointer.

When Jessop was not open, the Hawks moved the ball inside to Scott for some inside scores.

Between them Jessop and Scott carried the Hawks offence during a 12-3 run that gave Harlow a double-digit lead.

Vytis stormed back following a time-out but towards the end of the third quarter Harlow scored through Niaz, Jessop and Freeman to be 64-52 ahead.

A 10-0 run at the start of the final quarter reduced the advantage to a solitary two points and prompted a Hawks time-out.

As the game hung in the balance, huge back-to-back three-pointers from Jessop and one from Overland nudged Hawks clear.

And in the last minute, scores from Overland and Niaz put the match to bed.

HARLOW HAWKS: Jessop (35pts), Niaz (14), Scott (13), Overland (9), Freeman (8), Spashett, Jones, Ramadan, Wright.

Sawbo are the Pits for Bowers

Sawb'worth Tn 4, Bowers & Pitsea U 1
(Gordon Brasted Memorial Trophy, first round)

BOWERS & Pitsea must be sick of the sight of Sawbridgeworth Town — after the 10-man Essex side were knocked out of the Gordon Brasted Memorial Trophy by the Robins.

The score in the tie was 1-1 when Bowers' Scott Curley was dismissed on 40 minutes for dissent towards the assistant referee.

Saturday's result came after Bowers had picked up only one point from two Essex Senior League Cup group matches against Sawbridgeworth in the previous fortnight.

Sawbridgeworth went ahead on seven minutes when Kevin Moore slipped the ball to Dan Hudson, who shot past the visitors' former Stansted keeper Paul Dennis from just inside the area.

Dean Allen's 45-yard lob then flew just wide of a Sawbo post.

At the other end, Tom Day put in a good challenge to deny Bowers' Danny Greaves, before the visitors equalised on the half-hour mark.

Scott Pethers' screamer from just outside the area gave Robins keeper Andros Demosthenos no chance.

Shortly after the visitors went down to 10, Demosthenos produced a spectacular flying save to keep out Pethers' 18-yard shot.

After the break, Sawbridgeworth came close though a Hudson long-range shot which hit a post, while a Greg Hughes effort was tipped away for a corner by Dennis.

At the other end, Greaves shot just wide after a counter-attack.

Sawbridgeworth finally regained the lead on 75 minutes when Hughes' shot was deflected past his own keeper by Allen.

On 84 minutes, Day's free-kick evaded Dennis and fell to Dave Hutchison, who popped the ball into an empty net.

Moore wrapped up the scoring just before the end. He broke from the halfway line and ran through before firing home from 16 yards.

Weald close gap as Alemite are held

QUENDON Athletic held premier division leaders Alemite Athletic to a 3-3 draw in the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District League.

Dale Badcock and Tyler Gilkes struck for the hosts, while Quendon's tally was also boosted by an own goal.

This allowed North Weald, who won 8-0 at Birchanger, to close the gap at the top.

Sheering's miserable season continued with a 4-1 defeat at home to Loughton. Adam Hollyoak got the hosts' consolation.

White Roding slipped to a 3-2 defeat at home to Hatfield Heath. Rob Crouchman and Calum Hilton struck for Roding.

Pelly House defeated Old Street 4-2. M. Taylor and J. Wells got the visitors' consolations.

Debden reserves drew 1-1 at home to second-from-bottom Potter Street reserves.

Sheering reserves maintained their division one promotion bid with a 4-2 victory at Dunmow Rhodes. Dave Hardy (2) and Aaron Clark (2) were on target.

North Weald reserves remain top after a George Attril goal gave them a 1-0 win at home to Lower Street.

In the first round of the Division One Cup, a Sean Conlon hat-trick helped Albury to a 5-3 defeat of Thaxted Rangers reserves. Dave Taylor and David Cadman were also on the scoresheet.

Thorley Park advanced with a 3-0 success at Frontiers. Finding the net were Carl Saxford (2) and Ross Tarsey.

A Nathan Blake goal was not enough for Salvation Army who bowed out with a 2-1 home loss against Hatfield Heath reserves.

Strikes from Tommy Mercer, Tommy Ivory and Wilkins gave Potter Street A the win in a five-goal thriller against visiting Avondale Rangers.

The lack of a referee meant Heath Rovers' home match with Langley Rangers had to be postponed.

Late leveller is huge blow

Hendon 1, Harlow Tn 1

(Ryman League, premier division)

IT was so near but yet so far for the Hawks who almost claimed all three points at promotion-chasing Hendon.

Harlow Town were leading 1-0 before an 88th-minute goal from Daniel Dyer salvaged a point for Hendon when he fired in an unstoppable low volley after being set up by a Jamie Busby cross.

Neither team could conjure a winner in the remainder of the match which included seven minutes of stoppage time.

Hawks defender Beckett Hollenbach returned to the side after being ruled out with injury for five weeks. Danny Chapman was missing after sustaining a knee injury in training two days previously.

The Hawks started well and on 16 minutes Clark Akers' low shot rebounded off keeper Luke Blackmore.

Two minutes later, Dean Williams fired into the home side netting.

Hendon's Craig Vargas was shown the first yellow card of the match just before the half-hour mark for a dangerous challenge on Kenny Davis.

A lapse in communication among the Hawks' defenders allowed Brian Haule to force a good reflex save from Harlow stopper David Hogan 10 minutes before the interval.

The visitors took the lead on 45 minutes. Akers bent a free-kick around the wall and in off the far post with Blackmore left standing.

This was awarded for Haule's foul on Leon Lalite.

UNDER PRESSURE: Dean Williams in action against Hendon on Saturday (Photo: Tony Fowles)

Midfielder Danny Hill, playing his last game prior to a three-match suspension, was replaced by youngster Joe Watson for the second half after taking a knock.

On 53 minutes, Blackmore tipped away a Davis shot for a corner.

From this, an Akers' effort rebounded off the keeper, before Blackmore also blocked a James Bunn shot in a goalmouth scramble.

On the hour mark, Lalite found Akers with a cross-field pass, and the attacker's left-footed drive was stopped only by the out-stretched right foot of Blackmore.

Play had already been halted when Akers struck a post — he was then booked for kicking the ball away.

Hendon pushed on in search of an equaliser and Belal Aiteouakrim drilled wide of the far post despite being surrounded by at least four Harlow defenders.

Jamie Busby's cross from the left on 86 minutes found it's way to Arkadiusz, who shot wide of the near post.

But two minutes later the visitors broke Harlow hearts with an equaliser from Dyer.

Hawks player-boss Ryan Kirby said: "We played really well and a second goal would have been more than enough."

"Their keeper had an excellent game and we should have won. There was not much our keeper could do about their goal."

'Crazy' extra time costs Potter Street

A CRAZY first period of extra-time cost POTTER STREET dearly as they went on to lose 6-2 at Faces FC in the first round of the Essex Premier Cup on Saturday.

The score was 2-2 after 90 minutes before the first seven minutes of extra-time saw Daniel Yoxall score three goals to take his haul to four. Danny O'Driscoll also netted to make it 6-2.

The visitors went ahead on 15 minutes when Chris

Bruce latched onto a long ball and shot home.

Faces bounced back with two goals on 20 and 25 minutes, with Yoxall and Chris Barlow drilling home.

Street exerted strong pressure and this was rewarded on 70 minutes when substitute Mickey Kennedy came off the bench to score from a free-kick with his first touch, making it 2-2.

In the premier division of the LFC Insurance

Group Essex Olympian league, EPPING slumped to a 4-1 defeat at home to Galleywood.

Steve Bennett grabbed all the visitors' goals.

Galleywood went ahead on the half-hour mark when Bennett nipped in to nod home a cross.

Ten minutes later, Raich Fraser's penalty was saved by the Galleywood keeper. This was awarded for handball.

Epping's fate was sealed in a disastrous 10-minute spell from 55 to 65 minutes, when they conceded three goals.

Bennett took full advantage of sloppy defending.

Fraser scored Epping's consolation on 80 minutes slotting into the top corner with a shot from the edge of the box.

ROYDON lost 5-2 at home to White Ensign after extra time in the first round of the Essex Premier Cup. Vaughan Alfonso and John Zamora netted for the hosts.

Parndon in sight of premier leaders after thriller

PARNDON Royals closed to within two points of premier division leaders Old Town with a 3-2 victory over GPCA in the Harlow & District League.

Royals have two games in hand on Old Town, who were held to a 2-2 draw with Maypole Athletic.

In division one, table-toppers Lindsey Street's unbeaten run ended with a 4-2 defeat at home to Harberts.

Old Townmead closed the gap after a 7-2 win against New Town Rangers, who are still looking for their first win of the season.

Galaxy piled on the misery for A&A in division two with a 5th defeat. Galaxy won 3-0.

New boys Atletico UG picked up another three points to keep in touch with the leaders after a narrow 2-1 victory at Barnes Athletic.

In division three, Latton Orient took over at the top thanks to a crushing 5-1 victory over Matching United in which Gary Owen continued his tremendous goalscoring run.

Division four leaders Dynamo stretched their advantage after a 3-1 win over Langley Legends.

Their was some slick passing, with Jayson Drayton netting two goals either side of a Jon Silk effort.

Second-placed Abbey Albion only managed a point in a 1-1 draw with Sharks.

In division five, both Matching United reserves and Harberts A kept in touch with the promotion chasers.

Matching and Harberts won 2-1 and 7-1 respectively against Stewards and Archers Dart, who are still looking for their first points of the season.

Soon after, a clever chip into the area by Leon Lalite to Dean Williams was swiftly met by Staines keeper Shaun Allaway.

Asombang doubled his tally on the hour mark, running on to Lee Miles' clearance and drilling low into the bottom corner from 25 yards.

Penguins frozen out amid concern over pool future

"We need a pool. We need a home." When asked whether members could quit, Mrs Stevens said: "That is a concern. We have to consider that, if we are having to travel to all different pools because there is nowhere closer."

LOYAL: Penguins coach Alan Mitchell

Harlow MP Bill Rammell met club officials earlier this month and has arranged a meeting between Harlow Council and the Penguins.

The lack of an adequate facility in Harlow is illustrated by the example of Wendy's son

Chris (12). He gets up at 5am on a Saturday to use a 25m pool at Bishop's Stortford College, then heads back to Harlow for football practice before the exhausted youngster has an afternoon nap to recuperate before heading out for evening swimming competitions — not getting home until well beyond 10pm.

"That's tough for someone who has not reached 13 yet," Mrs Stevens said. "But that is the commitment that they have all got."

Children as young as eight are not getting in until 10pm on school days as practice at Burnt Mill does not finish until 9pm!

Penguins coach Alan Mitchell has pledged his loyalty to the club despite the problems.

Mrs Stevens added: "It [the closure] is a terrible blow for competitive swimming in Harlow. Everyone's fear is that we will be left without a pool until 2009 when the new leisure centre is complete."

A Harlow Council spokesman said: "We sympathise with the swimming club's situation but the current investigations are unavoidable. We have and will continue to keep the club up to date on the situation."

"The main concern with the pool appears to be the roof. A visual inspection has shown repairs are likely to be necessary and now a part will be dismantled for further investigation."

"At this stage we do not know the full extent of any problems, including those that are electrical related. We have no information about the extent or cost of any of the repairs and because of this, no decisions have been made about what work needs to be carried out."

He added: "The timescale for re-opening will depend on the investigation and the report is under way."

Berlin Marathon times take your breath away

VE have vays of making you run fast at ze Berlin Marathon!

That was the key for three Harlow Running Club members who made the trek to Germany for the showpiece.

Two personal best times for marathons were broken by Harlow men.

Alan Wise (3hrs 11mins and 47secs) produced his fastest ever time, as did Tim Miles (3:45.49).

Completing the trio in Berlin was Sean Flynn (3:50.24).

The first cross country race of the year was run on Saturday at Hillingdon, near Ruislip, Middlesex.

Race conditions were warm and sunny for the five-mile trek in which three Harlow runners competed.

Rick Ricketts came in 27th with a time of 33:26, while John Tennant was in 163rd place with 35:17. Graham Pugh came in 232nd (38:23).

Colin Moody took part in the Tiptree 10-mile run on Sunday, finishing 38th in 1:08:12.

Other results:- Harwich 10 Discovery Run — David Ayling (42.34); John Evans (42.42).

Manuden 10k — Tim Miles (42.19); Graham Pugh (43.50); Pasquale Pellechia (45.34); Nicky Luck (49.51); Ron Luck (55.00); Debbie Attridge (1:05.00, PB).

Southend 10K — Rick Ricketts (37.36); John Tennant (38.45); Peter Barrett (43.27, PB); Ann Somerville (55.50, PB).

Cup run over for brave Clapton

UPPER Clapton suffered a 28-17 defeat at home to Cantabrigians in the third round of the EDF Energy Junior Vase on Saturday.

The visitors started well and scored a try by the touchline just a few minutes into the game after winning a penalty and kicking to within five minutes of the Clapton line.

The conversion was pushed wide. After 10 minutes, a penalty was taken quickly, catching out the home defence. Excellent interplay between the back enabled the Cambridgeshire side to score a second try, which was converted.

Clapton conceded a penalty in front of the the posts on 25 minutes and this was kicked, putting the visitors 15-0 up at the break.

Danny Elmer's half-time team talk seemed to do the trick and Clapton flanker Tom Kavanagh retrieved a long kick to set up an attack. However, a Cantab defender killed the ball and the hosts were awarded a penalty.

From this, Dean Kemp evaded three tackles before scoring a try which Smith converted for 7-15.

The visitors added a third try on 50 minutes. The conversion was successful.

A fracas then disrupted the game and forced the referee to speak to both teams.

Soon after, a Cantab forward was sin-binned.

Paul Baldwin went down the blind side to score a second try for Clapton. Smith missed the conversion.

Shortly after this, Cantabs kicked a penalty.

Tom Roberts was pulled up just short of the try line before Chris Adams picked up at the ruck to cut the deficit to eight points. Smith's conversion hit the post.

A Cantabs penalty which was slotted over completed the scoring.

Rams suffer shock loss in senior vase

POWER PLAY: Sara Stimpson, with ball in hand, holds off a Woodbridge player on her way to two tries in Sunday's match (s)

Sudbury 12, Harlow 0

(EDF Energy Senior Vase, 1st rnd)

A WEAKENED Harlow side slipped to a shock away defeat as they were knocked out of the EDF Energy Senior Vase Cup by a team who play a division below them.

Opponents Sudbury, who play in London division four north east, took their chances against a Rams team who were missing prop Paul Prindiville, centre Billy Stanley as well as lock Jon Snow.

Player-coach and scrum-half Lee Harron started on the bench and did not come on until the hour mark.

Harlow had players playing out of position but were able to dominate the game in terms of possession and territory. However, the Rams could not get across the try line.

Two early attacks by Harlow locks Darran Hawkins and Paul Eynon were stopped by solid tackling, but midway through the half the visitors came close to scoring a try.

A kick for the corner bounced awkwardly and just eluded the fingers of the chasing James McFerran.

The Suffolk side went ahead on 25 minutes. They took play into the visitors' half from a penalty and managed to win quick ball to wrong-foot the Harlow defence, allowing Jim Lorking to score an unconverted try in the corner.

Sudbury resisted more Rams pressure and led 5-0 at half-time.

After the break, Sudbury brought on three new signings from their bench and this enabled them to reduce the Harlow dominance in the set scrums.

The visitors' hopes were dashed on 72 minutes when Sudbury scored their second try.

A kick up field from a home penalty did not find touch, but a Harlow clearance was charged down and fell perfectly for winger Richard Stephen to follow up and score an easy try under the posts.

Matthew Woodson converted to round off the scoring.

HARLOW: Lucas, Gizzi, Acraman, Walker (Acraman 40), Souch, Cotterill, King, Diprose, Hodges (Stannard 60), Conway, Stimpson, Millman.

Stimpson shines as Ladies edge it

SLICK attacking play was a feature of Harlow's play as they beat a talented Woodbridge side.

The visitors had a Wales international fly-half in their ranks at Rams Gorse on Sunday. Harlow included two debutants — Zoe Walker and Gemma Acrama.

The Rams, sponsored by Old Harlow-based Essence of India restaurant, scored two unconverted tries in the first 10 minutes.

Keighley Diprose and then Becky Hodges sprinted 60 and 50 yards respectively for the touchdowns.

Harlow Ladies 27, Woodbridge Ladies 22

(RFU Women's League, eastern division three)

Woodbridge countered with a good unconverted try on 20 minutes.

Sara Stimpson ran in another try for Harlow and then Woodbridge replied with one to leave the hosts leading 15-10 at the break. Stimpson extended Harlow's lead with a second unconverted try at the start of the final quarter.

Woodbridge bounced back with a try under the home posts but the easy conversion kick was missed.

Shortly after, Harlow were awarded a penalty 10 yards from the visitors' line and scrum-half Nichola King grabbed the ball and was held up just short but still managed to stretch and force the ball over the try-line.

Becky Conway kicked the conversion and Harlow led 27-15. In the closing minutes Woodbridge closed the gap with a converted try.

HARLOW: Lucas, Gizzi, Acraman, Walker (Acraman 40), Souch, Cotterill, King, Diprose, Hodges (Stannard 60), Conway, Stimpson, Millman.

Nervy ending as Harlow U-13's hold out for win

YOUTH RUGBY

HARLOW U-13's held their nerve to win their first game of the season when they triumphed 27-25 at Wanstead on Sunday.

The hosts went ahead early on through an unconverted try, before the Rams bounced back with two unconverted tries from Andre Riddell and prop Zac Chamnouie.

The ding dong nature of this match continued as Wanstead scored their second before half-time and after the break the hosts scored two more unconverted tries to go 20-10 up.

Harlow fought back and number eight Dominic Lane crashed over, while Sonny Handscombe converted the try.

Rams skipper Vinnie Hunter then scored two tries to put his side 27-20 ahead, before Wanstead replied with an unconverted last-minute try.

HARLOW U-13's squad: Judge, Jenkins, Chamnouie, Foley, Boswell-Banks, O'Hanlon, Clark, Lane, Riddell, Hunter, Davies, Roberts, Brown, Healey, Handscombe, Evans, Harty, Saych.

HARLOW U-14's gave four tries away in the first half of their home match against Old Albanians but conceded only two in the second period before going down 36-7.

Three conversions were kicked by the visitors.

Harlow's sole try came when Lewis Pucille scored a great individual score and scrum-half Josh Finch kicked the conversion.

A well-earned victory was gained by HARLOW U-16's when they won 26-5 at Wanstead.

The Rams led 7-0 at half-time through a Joe Pite try converted by Danny Smith.

Wanstead scored an unconverted try after the interval.

Rams began to dominate and centre Jordan Cable scored a try, which was followed by further scores from Connor Byrne and Lennie Hayden.

Pite kicked two more conversions.

It was a second successive victory for the team.

HARLOW U-17's conceded three tries in each half when they lost 36-3 at home to Romford.

Earlier, Lewis Alderman supplied Harlow's only points with a drop goal which put Harlow into the lead on three minutes.

Penguins frozen out

Club's future under threat amid fears that pool will remain shut until 2009

By ALAN SCOTT
 Sports Editor
scotta@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE future of Harlow Penguins Swimming Club is shrouded in darkness as doubts remain over whether Harlow Pool will open at all next year.

The First Avenue site was shut last month for health and safety reasons over the state of the roof, forcing the club to switch to the neighbouring pool at Burnt Mill School.

The problem is that this is only a 20m pool — and so children from the age of 12, as well as adult Penguin swimmers have been forced to go as far afield as Bishop's Stortford and Hailey in search of a 25m pool.

The Penguins' press secretary Wendy Stevens said it fears talented youngsters could quit the club if they have no access to a 25m pool.

The closure of the pool could not have come at a worse time for the Penguins with the season just beginning.

STAYING SHUT? Harlow Pool which was shut down by Harlow Council last month for health and safety reasons (YRSVP3GG03)

The club was served with no notice to quit and Harlow Council has not even helped it find an adequate replacement — it has been forced to sink or swim by itself.

"We are in trouble. They [Harlow Council] closed the pool two weeks before our open meeting. Burnt Mill have been as accommodating as they can but we are still not getting an awful lot of pool time," Mrs Stevens said.

Defeat means one win in eight for Hawks

THE scoreline did not really tell the story as Hawks crashed 3-0 at high-flying Staines on Tuesday.

And Ryan Kirby's Harlow Town side will look to the FA Trophy match at Brentwood on Saturday to turn the tide as the Hawks look for their first win in eight matches.

However, the player-boss must be concerned at his side's lack of goals.

Jordan Fowler's swift return from a ligament injury as a late substitute was one small crumb of comfort.

Young strikers Danny Green and Daryl Doolan cut frustrated figures on the bench, but Kirby obviously felt the duo did not have the experience or nous to unlock a tight Staines defence.

Michael Gliddon started in place of the suspended Danny Hill.

The visitors battled but

Staines Tn 3, Harlow Tn 0
 (Ryman League, premier division)

created few decent opportunities in the first half.

The best chance of the half fell to the visitors after 30 minutes. Dwain Clarke's left-footed free-kick beat Hawks on-loan keeper David Hogan but struck the woodwork and bounced to Beckett Hollenbach who managed to clear the danger.

James Bunn pulled a volley just wide of a post four minutes after the break following a mistake by a Staines defender.

The home side took the lead largely against the run of play in the 51st minute.

Dave Sargent played Victor Asombang in behind the defence, whose shot went in off the underside of the bar.
